Bribery Charges Against Berman Brothers Dismissed

MOTION IS GRANTED BY COURT TODAY

Judge Wilson Says Action Taken Because Two Men Aided State in Trials
NO PROMISES MADE
Jurist Orders Opening of Trial of Louis Krause On Similar Charges

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—(UP)—The charge of bribery against Jacob Berman, former Julian Petroleum corporation executive, was dismissed today by Superior Judge Emmet Wilson.

The jurist granted a similar motion to dismiss a similar count against Louis Berman, brother of Jacob.

At the same time he ordered the opening of the trial of Louis Krause, private detective, accused of having acted as the agent between the Bermans and members of the jury in the 1928 Julian conspiracy trial.

Attorneys immediately started selecting a jury to try Krause.

In dismissing the cases against the Bermans, Judge Wilson said he wanted to make it clear that his action was taken because they were used as state's witnesses and not because of any promises made to them by District Attorney Buron Pitts.

"I think it would be a very bad precedent," the jurist said, "to allow defendants to believe that the district attorney or any of his officers other than a competent court has authority to grant immunity."

While attorneys went about the work of getting the jury for the Krause trial, Berman went to the court of Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer where he was scheduled for another appearance at the trial of Morris Lavine and Miss Leontine Johnson, accused of using information of Julian Deals in an extortion attempt.

Another Julian action, the trial of John Groves, one of the jurors assertedly bribed by the Bermans and Krause, was continued until July 8.

SOUTHERN CROSS CREW MEETS PRESIDENT AT WHITE HOUSE

DR. WILEY DIES DURING NIGHT IN WASHINGTON

Noted Pure Food Campaigner Succumbs After Illness of Months

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(UP)—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pioneer campaigner for pure foods and drugs and sponsor of the Pure Food and Drugs act, died at his home here today after an illness of several weeks. He was 85 years old. Death occurred at 2:15 a. m.

The noted health specialist suffered a heart attack shortly after his appearance before the senate agriculture committee recently, where he protested at the administration of the Pure Food and Drugs act which he said had weakened the law.

Death came quietly to the aged doctor, who would have been 86 in October. To the end of his long and notable career, Dr. Wiley still carried on his fight for pure foods and drugs.

Quits His Post
Feeling he was handicapped in his official position as head of the bureau of chemistry, Dr. Wiley left the government service in 1912 after 29 years, and devoted himself to his campaign as a private citizen.

He entered the list most prominently toward the end of his career to denounce the changes made by an appropriation bill of 1927 in the administration of the pure food and drug act whereby the old bureau of chemistry which he had headed was merged with the bureau of soils and its pure food and drug functions transferred to another agency in the agriculture department.

When he left the government services charges were made against him, for which he was exonerated after President Taft and a committee of congress had made an investigation.

Dr. Wiley, who was born in Kent, Indiana, Oct. 18, 1844, had wide intellectual interests. After his graduation from Hanover college, where he received both A. B. and M. A. degrees, he taught Latin and Greek in Butler university.

Medical Degree
He received a medical degree from Indiana university, and a science degree from Harvard, and was granted numerous honorary degrees. He taught chemistry at both Butler and Purdue universities when he devoted his main interest to the classics to this field, and served as state chemist of Indiana from 1874 until he entered the government service at Washington in 1883.

On several occasions he was a delegate to various international chemistry and medical meetings and served as president of the American Chemical society and the American Therapeutic society, as well as being member of various foreign organizations. From 1910 to 1920, he was president of the United States Pharmacopoeial convention.

Dr. Wiley did not marry until he was 67 years old. He had two sons.

Congress Leaders Of India Arrested By British Police

DELHI, India, June 30.—(UP)—Motilal Nehru, president of the All India congress and recently the chief leader of the independence movement, was arrested today at Allahabad.

Sayed Mahmud, secretary of the All India congress, also was arrested.

They were charged with engaging in activities of the congress working committee and the Youth league, which were declared unlawful in the united province.

To Mr. Labor Work Foreign Subject

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—(UP)—"Labor — physical or mental exertion." At least that's what it was to Mr. Webster.

To Manuel Labor, 27, it's just a name. He was under arrest today at the city prison charged with vagrancy. "Work! I don't know him," grinned the genial misnomer. Officials are trying to arrange an introduction.

CHICAGO PAPER STILL DEMANDS LINGLE SLAYER

Fact That Reporter Mixed Up in Racketeering Is Not Slowing Hunt

CHICAGO, June 30.—(UP)—A public review by a special "board of strategy" of reports that Albert "Jake" Lingle, slain Chicago Tribune reporter, was engaged extensively in racketeering did not tend today to slow up the search for his slayer.

"The murder of this reporter, even for racketeering reasons, as the evidence indicates it may have been, made a breach in the wall which criminality has long maintained about its operations here," said the Tribune, Lingle's employer, editorially.

"That he is not a soldier dead in the discharge of his duty is unfortunate considering that he is dead. It is of no consequence to any inquiry determined to discover why he was killed, by whom killed and with what attendant circumstances."

While squads of Chicago policemen raided resorts near Burlington, Wis., searching for James "Red" Forsythe, who police believe was the man hired to shoot Lingle to death in an Illinois Central subway, details were published here of how he $65 a week reporter enjoyed for almost three years an income of at least $60,000 a year by using his position to "borrow" money from gangsters and city officials.

A special board of strategy which published the detailed report of Lingle's alleged racketeering is headed by Charles Rathbun, Tribune lawyer, who was sworn in as a special assistant prosecutor to seek out the slayer.

Lingle, it was revealed had led the men with whom he worked to believe that he had inherited a small fortune, thus explaining his apparent wealth.

LIQUOR WAREHOUSE RAIDED BY GUNMEN

CHICAGO, June 30.—(UP)—A gang of gunmen early today overpowered the guard at a government warehouse here and carted away confiscated liquor, which, it was believed, was worth many thousands of dollars.

Capt. R. D. Smith, federal prohibition agent, who has charge of the warehouse, said he could not estimate the value of the liquor until a detailed check is made, but it was believed that all or more of an $85,000 supply of Bourbon confiscated recently was taken.

Paul Perry, 30, a night watchman, was in charge of the building when the men entered. The men were already inside and were carrying out cans of liquor when he first saw them, he said, and he thought they were prohibition agents removing the liquor to be tested.

OPPONENTS OF NAVAL TREATY FINISH REPORT

Ten Thousand Word Document Will Be Submitted to Senate

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(UP)—Three outstanding senatorial opponents of the London naval treaty last night summed up their objections to the document in a 10,000 word foreign relations committee minority report to the senate.

Disclaiming "either militarism or jingoism," Republican senators Johnson of California, Robinson of Indiana and Moses of New Hampshire indicated the naval limitation pact on 11 formal counts. Their lengthy report, mostly a reiteration of previous anti-treaty arguments made over the radio or at the senate floor, put forward the following principal allegations:

(1) The treaty does not give the United States real parity with Great Britain. (2) It involves costly building and will save only half of the $400,000,000 estimated by the administration. (3) It destroys the 5-5-3 ratio with Japan established at the Washington conference in 1922. (4) It ignores the traditional American attitude regarding cruisers. (5) It is opposed by the vast preponderance of naval opinion. (6) It was presented to the senate without adequate information regarding its background in diplomatic negotiations.

The report alleged, moreover, that Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, during his conference with President Hoover, promised to allow the United States a new super-battleship. This promise, the three senators averred, probably was not kept because the British admiralty opposed it.

Huge Fokker Transport Is Used On Trip

Famous Aviators Congratulated By Hoover and Also By Congress

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(UP)—Major Charles E. Kingsford-Smith, and the crew of the round-the-world Southern Cross arrived at Bolling field from New York at 11:12 a. m., today, to receive the congratulations of President Hoover and official Washington upon their flight last week from Ireland to Newfoundland.

Representatives from the British embassy and Irish Free state and Netherlands legations greeted Kingsford-Smith and his three companions, Everett Van Dyk, copilot, Captain J. Patrick Saul, navigator, and John Stannage, radio operator, as they stepped from the cabin of the huge 32-passenger Fokker transport.

Assistant War Secretary Davidson in a brief welcoming speech said their flight had caught "the admiration and imagination of the world and deserved the heartiest congratulations of the army."

Kingsford-Smith replied by saying it was his three companions who had made the flight possible. After posing for photographers, the fliers departed in automobiles for the British embassy where Kingsford-Smith was received by Sir Ronald Lindsay. After the reception by Lindsay, Saul, Stannage and Van Dyk left for the legations of their respective governments, the Irish Free State, South Africa and the Netherlands.

The Southern Cross crew was received at the White House by President Hoover at 12:30 and afterward were luncheon guests there. They were to visit the senate during the afternoon and then return to New York.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT WILL BE TRANSFERRED TO JUSTICE DEPT. AT MIDNIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(UP)—After a decade of handling prohibition enforcement the treasury will complete tomorrow transfer of the prohibition bureau to the justice department, retaining only control of the permissive alcohol system.

Under the transfer plans announced recently by Attorney General Mitchell, the nation after tomorrow will be divided into 12 districts for purposes of dry law enforcement, instead of the present 27. An administrator for the justice department and a permit supervisor for the treasury will be stationed in the headquarters city of each district.

Added efficiency in enforcement is expected after the transfer as a result of closer co-ordination of the investigating and prosecuting staffs.

Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, who has had an extensive military record in the World war and on the Mexican border, has been selected to head the new dry bureau. Woodcock has been serving as U. S. district attorney at Baltimore and is regarded as eminently fitted for the task.

Throughout the country, 87 deputy administrators scattered in the 12 major dry districts will have actual charge of enforcing the Volstead act in their communities. Only the larger cases will be personally handled by the 12 administrators.

A series of conferences with state officials in which the government will seek to obtain a greater measure of co-operation will be started by Mitchell.

The personnel of the prohibition bureau will be divided between the two departments, 2,700 investigators going to the justice department, while the treasury will keep 1,700 men and women to administer the industrial alcohol permits. There will be no actual physical transfer in most cases, and the prohibition bureau in Washington will remain where it is in an office building near the treasury.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT TALKS ON UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM AT GOVERNORS' CONVENTION

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 30.—(UP)—Growth of industrialism has given this country an unemployment problem that will always be present in varying degrees unless a method of insurance is devised to protect the worker, Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, of New York, told the 22nd annual National Governors' conference here today.

Tracing the causes and history of unemployment, and pointing out the growing ranks of persons who lose employment through old age, Governor Roosevelt said that although five day weeks, shorter hours per day, careful planning and public building in emergencies will tend to alleviate the situation, unemployment will always be a problem, and some form of insurance seems to be the only solution.

"Unemployment insurance we shall come to in this country," he said, "just as certainly as we have come to workmen's compensation for industrial injury, just as certainly as we are today in the midst of a national wave of insuring against old age want."

No Fault of Worker
"Ninety percent of unemployment is wholly without the fault of the worker. Other nations and governments have undertaken various systems which insure their workers when unemployment comes. Why should we, in the 48 states of the union, be the only ones who do not?"

The new members of the Sacred College were:

Mgr. Sebastiano Leme De Silveira Cintra, Archbishop of Rio de Janeiro.

Mgr. Francesco Marchetti-Selvagiani, titular Archbishop of Seleucia and secretary of the congregation for the propaganda of the faith.

Mgr. Raffaele Carlo Rossi, titular Archbishop of the Salonica and successor of the consistorial congregation.

Mgr. Achille Lehner, Bishop of Lille, France.

The consistory was the second high ceremony of the church in which the pope had participated within 24 hours. Yesterday he canonized 10 new saints, eight of them North American martyrs.

Thousands of spectators were jammed around the field and automobile traffic was almost tied up at concentrated points. It was estimated that 75,000 persons visited the airport yesterday after word was spread by newspapers and radio that the City of Chicago had broken the record of 420 house set a year ago by the St. Louis Robins.

TWO ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN CRASH

WESTBURY, L. I., June 30.—(UP)—Army officers began an investigation today into an airplane crash which took the lives of two of the best reserve pilots yesterday.

Capt. Albert E. Flood and Lieut. Benjamin Berkowitz, World war fliers, who were rated among the best airmen in the reserve corps, were killed when a training plane descended in a spiral glide yesterday. Flood was believed to have been at the controls. Both men had more than 1500 hours in the air to their credit.

RESOLUTION ASKS BISHOP TO RESIGN

ATLANTA, Ga., June 30.—(UP)—A resolution petitioning Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, to resign "for the best interests of the cause of Christianity throughout the world" has been adopted by lay members of the church at Newman, Ga., and was characterized today by Dr. Gumbert G. Smith, of Washington, Ga., as evidence of "serious dissatisfaction" with the outcome of the Dallas conference.

The resolution mentioned specifically Bishop Cannon's admitted political activity in the last presidential campaign and his stock market speculations, against which the Dallas conference declined to take action.

DISABLED STEAMER TOWED INTO PORT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—(UP)—The disabled steamer Onondaga was resting safely in port here today after being towed 125 miles by a coast guard cutter and a tug.

The Onondaga lost a propeller Saturday night and was drifting helplessly toward the rocky coast of Point Arena. The Cutter Tahoe and a tug, dispatched from San Francisco, rushed to the scene to lend aid.

Capt. K. E. Prinz, of the disabled boat, reported little damage had been done except for the loss of the propeller. The crew of 28 men attributed their rescue to the calm weather and the speed with which aid arrived.

PASSES 457 HOUR MARK LATE TODAY

Wright Motor Sounds Clear As Nineteenth Day in Air Begun By Birdmen

RIDES OUT STORM
Refueling Early This Morning Comes Just in Time To Keep Plane in Air

CHICAGO, June 30.—(UP)—Man's battle to outlast machinery neared the 19th day of conflict over Sky Harbor airport today as the Hunter brothers sent their Stinson-Detroit airplane droning in circles, toward a record they hope will stand for all time.

At 5:40 p. m. C.D.T., the plane had been in the air for 457 hours, more than a day longer than the previous record of 420 hours.

The plane needed gas last night, but it was impossible to make a refueling contact until early today and the contact was no more than completed than a severe storm swept over Sky Harbor airport.

The plane rode on through the storm and groundworkers said there was no further danger of it being forced down, but if the refueling contact had been delayed half an hour longer it was doubtful if it ever would have been made.

Up Until Fourth
"We'll celebrate the Fourth of July up here," the almost exhausted pilots, John and Kenneth Hunter, brothers, said in a grease soaked note which they dropped to the field. It was the 19th day they had been confined in the tiny cabin, the air saturated with gasoline fumes and the motor roaring ceaselessly in their ears.

The other Hunters connected with the flight—Albert and Walter, pilots of Big Ben, the refueling plane, and Irene, who cooks the meals—were confident their flying brothers could keep the plane aloft at least 50 hours longer.

Field attendants said the Wright J-6-300 motor of the aged Stinson-Detroit monoplane sounded almost as clear as when it took off two weeks ago last Wednesday. John and Kenneth said the plane appeared in good condition except that it was more difficult to handle because of being "loosened up" by the great strain.

Thousands of spectators were jammed around the field and automobile traffic was almost tied up at concentrated points. It was estimated that 75,000 persons visited the airport yesterday after word was spread by newspapers and radio that the City of Chicago had broken the record of 420 house set a year ago by the St. Louis Robins.

The Hunter boys estimated the flight, which they started with the last family resources, will profit them about $200,000. They already have won prizes offered by airplane, gasoline, oil and accessory

FRENCH SOLDIERS LEAVE RHINELAND

WIESBADEN, Germany, June 30.—(UP)—The French Rhineland commission departed today for France, preparatory to the official termination to the Rhineland occupation by France at midnight tonight.

With the departure of the commission of the last of the two battalions of French troops from German soil, the German population prepared a celebration of their first freedom from invasion in 11 years to acclaim the territory's independence, and parties and dinners will be held in many places to acclaim once more the fatherland.

Fourteen Persons Hurt In Week End Auto Mishaps

NONE INJURED SERIOUSLY IN NINE CRASHES

Although there was a total of 14 persons reported injured in nine automobile accidents in and near Santa Ana over the week end, nine of those injured is believed to have been seriously hurt, according to a check made of hospitals by the Register today.

Three persons were injured when an automobile driven by Mrs. G. A. Pollard, of Tustin, collided with a car driven by Ross J. Todd, of Olive, at McFadden street and Tustin avenues, Sunday morning at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. Todd and Todd were all cut and bruised. Dan Adams, state traffic officer reported the accident. The injured were taken to their homes.

Two small sons of Keith Fields, of Buena Park, were injured at Stanton Sunday morning at 10 o'clock when the automobile in which they were riding with their father crashed into the back end of a sight-seeing bus at a railway crossing at Buena Park. No one on the bus was reported hurt.

Mrs. W. R. Hudgens and Mrs. Roy Humphreys, both of Santa Ana, received cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding, driven by Mrs. Hudgens, collided with a car driven by Mrs. Martin Elliott, of 2088 North Broadway at 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

The accident occurred at Pine and Ross streets. Both parties went to their homes after the accident.

Two Mexicans, a man and a boy, were reported injured at the Huntington Beach and Wintersburg roads at 5:20 p. m. yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with a machine driven by Richard Phillips, of Norwalk, according to a report made at the sheriff's office.

The injured were taken to the Huntington Beach hospital, where they were given medical aid and then taken home.

Charles Vatcher, of 624 South Garnsey street, suffered cuts and bruises about the face in an automobile accident near here yesterday.

He was taken to the Orange County hospital and later removed to his home.

Isaac Lopez, 26, of Glorietta, suffered several broken ribs in an automobile accident, south of Santa Ana yesterday. He came to the Orange County hospital, was given medical attention and discharged.

James Kirker, 15, of Talbert, suffered deep lacerations about the arms in an automobile crash near Talbert yesterday. After being given first aid treatment at the our union, fear to undertake the task. "It is necessary for us to guard against two grave dangers. Insurance against unemployment must not become a mere dole which encourages idleness and defeats its own purpose. It should be possible to draw a hard and fast line against any man or woman who declines to accept an offered position, and it should be possible to alternate employment that no individual will be unable to find a job for more than two or three months at a time.

"Unemployment insurance must be placed upon an actuarial basis and contributions must be made by the workers themselves."

Careful Planning
The most careful planning of the future, in large industries, could not eliminate the problem, he said, pointing out the changes in styles which resulted in artificial silk replacing cotton goods, and the depression in the spoken drama with the advent of the movies and talkies as examples of "accidents" of unemployment.

Latest manufacturing and selling processes and the "so called efficiency" of the top age of employment usefulness and the old age problem, which a few years ago was set at the 70 year mark, is today advanced to include thousands in their fifties and sixties, Governor Roosevelt said in pointing out the necessity for serious consideration of an enlarged old age pension plan.

Governor Roosevelt's was the first address at the governors' conference which convened today and last four days spent in national parks of southern Utah and northern Arizona.

companies, and one concern has promised to pay them $100 for every hour which they add to the record.

"But we won't accept money unless we think we've really earned it," said Walter, 33, who bought the first family plane and taught the others to fly.

Turn Down Cash
A cigarette company offered $10,000 if John or Kenneth would have a picture taken when they land holding a package of a certain kind of cigarettes. Lindbergh didn't take that kind of money and we aren't going to either."

A sixth member of the Hunter family took up temporary residence at the field today. She is the "world's happiest mother" and she cried when she learned her sons had broken the record. Then she went up in the refueling plane to way encouragement to John and Kenneth.

"My boys, I think you are wonderful," the little mother, who has been a widow for 18 years, told the fatigued pilots over the radio.

John and Kenneth seemed entirely recovered from their spell last week of what Albert called "toughness." They dropped proud notes to their mother, praised Irene's "swell fried chicken," and made light of the sultry weather.

Kenneth's toothache and the oil soaked condition of the cabin.

Writes to Son
"Okay, Sonny, we'll be down about the Fourth of July," the piloting brothers said in reply to a message from Herschell, 6, Albert's youngest son. Herschell wanted them to come down and take him for a ride in the City of Chicago.

Telegrams of congratulations were received by the Hunters from all over the world. A message from Forrest O'Brien and Dale Jackson, who piloted the St. Louis Robin to the former record, was relayed to Kenneth and John by the refueling plane. It said: "Congratulations. Hang up good record, because we're going back to try and beat it."

Report Case Of Paralysis Today

With the report of one new case of infantile paralysis in the county and the release of another, the total of quarantined cases still remains at seven, it was stated today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the county health department.

Clyde Sweetser, of Laguna Beach, is the new patient, while Miss Charity Ann Murray, of Yorba Linda, was released today. Keith Hassett, 4, 907 North Olive street, will be released tomorrow, which will lower the total to six if no new cases develop. There was no change today in the condition of William Mrowka, of Stanton, or Margery Mellott, of Costa Mesa.

PETERSON RETURNS FROM BUYING TRIP

"Orange county is sitting on top of the world compared to the east and north," declared Roy S. Peterson of Peterson's Shoe store of Santa Ana, after returning yesterday from a three weeks' trip through Canada and the eastern states.

Peterson, making the trip alone for buying and other business, left Santa Ana on May 31, going first to Vancouver, across Canada on the Canadian Pacific lines and then to many large cities, including Minneapolis, Chicago, New York, St. Paul and Montreal. While he was in Chicago, a week ago, the temperature was 96 degrees.

Unemployment was present everywhere, Peterson stated, in commenting on business conditions. Bread lines were found in all the large cities and in Canada and hundreds of men were out of work while waiting for the wheat harvest.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR ROSS CONCERN

H. Y. Evans, of Santa Ana, has been appointed receiver for the business interests of William W. Ross, sentenced to a term in San Quentin prison for grand theft, it was announced by Ben Tarver, referee in bankruptcy.

Evans will assume his new duties at once with Carl Cowles acting as his lawyer. Ross operated the agency for the Moreland Truck company with offices and garage at 524 East First street. He was convicted and sent to San Quentin in May for a term of from one to 14 years.

FIREMEN NAME DELEGATES TO BAY CITY MEET

Capt. W. C. Fox and H. J. McCormack will represent the Santa Ana fire department at the annual convention of the State Firemen's association to be held in San Francisco July 30-August 1, it was announced today.

According to Fox, a good portion of the time of the convention will be devoted to discussion of plans for furthering success of amendment No. 27, at the November election.

"The amendment specifically provides that the legislature biennially set aside for distribution among various firemen's pension, relief, health, life and accident insurance funds for all communities of the state a sum not to exceed one-half the revenues accruing from the operations of fire insurance companies and associations for fire insurance premiums," Fox said.

"Passage of the amendment will result in the strengthening of fire departments from a point of personnel. It will justify call upon state-taxed groups to bear a portion of the pension costs for fire departments that daily protect their interests."

"Passage of the measure will not increase taxes or insurance premiums, inasmuch as the funds from which the pension monies

SUICIDE VICTIM'S IDENTITY UNKNOWN

No progress in identifying the body of a man found in a ditch north of Fullerton last Thursday, has been made, according to sheriff's officers who are handling the case.

The man had apparently committed suicide, slashing his throat with a razor, which was found beside the body. There were no marks of identification on the body.

Herman Zabel, of the sheriff's office, today was sending out pictures of the corpse with fingerprints, in an effort to learn the identity. Zabel said that the man apparently was not a hobo, but little else has been learned about him.

The body was removed to the Searle funeral parlors at Fullerton, where it is being held temporarily, pending identification.

Each cardinal was attended by his secretary and gentlemen in waiting, while high prelates of the church, officers of the papal soldiery in full dress, and lay dignitaries of the papal court stood about the room.

After Pope Pius had prayed silently for a moment, all except the members of the college were ordered from the room, the door locked, and all communication between the hall of the consistory and the outside world was disconnected.

"The doors were not opened again until papal messengers were dispatched to each of the five newly appointed cardinals to serve formal notification of their elevation. After the messengers were dispatched, the pope retired to his apartments in the vatican."

SEEK CAUSE OF FIRE DAMAGING SARGENT HOME

An investigation in a mysterious fire which seriously damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sargent, located just north of the Log Cabin Inn, on the state highway between Orange and Anaheim, was started today by Boyd Sleeper, state fire marshal, and the sheriff's office, when it was reported that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Officers making an investigation learned, they reported, that four different fires were started in the house, one in the dining room, one in a closet, one in a bedroom and one at the back of the house.

The damage will exceed $2000, it was reported. Some of the furniture was saved by persons in the Log Cabin who rushed to the house when the flames first started, about 1:40 a. m. yesterday.

Burned match stubs were found scattered about the entire interior of the house, but there was no attempt made to burglarize the home, officers said.

Mr. and Mrs. Sargent are on a trip to Alaska and the house has been shut up for some time, according to their son, an employee of the city of Santa Ana, who told officers that he could give no reason for anyone wanting to burn the house.

Members of the Santa Ana fire department went to the fire and

Trousseau Shower Is Pretty Compliment To Bride-elect

The attractive gardens of the A. H. T. Taylor home, 2422 Fairmont street abloom with gladioli and other summer flowers, formed a picturesque setting for the trousseau shower given Saturday afternoon by Miss Juliette Taylor, in honor of Miss Charlotte Pritchard, whose marriage to John Lacy Taylor will be an event of early September.

Bridge at tables set under colorful beach umbrellas proved a popular diversion of the afternoon, with Miss Loretta Spangler receiving high score, and Miss Edith Paine, low. Each was awarded an attractive prize. Tallies bore the prevailing summer flower motif.

Following the games the honoree was presented with an assortment of lovely gifts for her trousseau in an inverted umbrella, significant of a shower. An attractive note in the garden was a large basket of crimson gladioli, which adorned a table, over which a red and green serape was thrown.

Following the shower, dainty refreshments were served to the group, by Miss Marjorie Hatter, who assisted the hostess, Miss Taylor.

Invited guests included the honoree, Miss Charlotte Pritchard, and the Misses Alice McDougall, Dorothy Pritchard, Elizabeth Palmer, Mary Bruner, Marian Bruner, Enid Twist, Elizabeth Gilmour, Margaret Gaebe, Loretta Spangler, Louise Van Dien, Louise Bryant, Vena Belle Bryant, Jean Nicholson, Viola Oliphant, Charlene Swartz, Mable Truitt, Eva Dean Caskey, all of Santa Ana; the Misses Florence Stanley, Elizabeth Roehm, Louise Artz, Alice Prather and Ruth Tantlinger, of Tustin; Miss Charlotte Moulton, of El Toro; Miss Marjorie Moore, of Beverly Hills; Miss Edith Paine, of Balboa; Miss Helen Jean Albertson, of Santa Paula, and Mesdames Glen Kirby, Merle Hall, Charles Woodfill, Wade Thompson, George Glover, and Mrs. C. extinguished the blaze after persons with garden hose held the flames under control until the arrival of the department. It is the first time in several months that the local department has gone so far out of the city to a fire.

Afternoon Nuptials Held in First M. E. Chapel

The intimate charm of the First Methodist Episcopal chapel formed a lovely setting for the wedding of Miss Josephine Waggener, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Waggener, 416 Garfield street, who yesterday afternoon became the bride of Robert Munro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Munro of Los Angeles.

The altar was banked with green fernery, amidst which, tall white waxen tapers gleamed. Baskets of gladioluses, intermingled with pink stock, blue larkspur, and golden pompon dahlias, were placed at either side. Bows of tulle marked the family pews.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride entered on the arm of her father. She was clad in white chiffon, trimmed with lovely lace, and wore a close fitting white hat. Her only ornament was a sparkling strand of crystals, the gift of the groom. She carried bride roses, combined with lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern.

The bride was preceded by her mother, Mrs. A. T. Waggener, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Munro, and Pat Munro, and Miss Vernis Mae Waggener. Mrs. Waggener wore printed chiffon, with egg shell accessories, while Mrs. Munro was also attired in printed chiffon. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rosebuds and maiden hair fern, the gift of the groom. Miss Vernis Mae Waggener was becomingly gowned in tints of light green.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. George A. Warner, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Esther Vogt, who also played the wedding march. The Rev. George A. Warner read the marriage ceremony.

The bridal bouquet was appropriately divided between the two mothers, and following the ceremony, the young couple left for Los Angeles. From there they left by motor on a two weeks' honeymoon in Santa Barbara, San Francisco and Yosemite.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Munro wore a complete outfit of eggshell, with all accessories in the same popular tone. Upon their return, the young couple expect to locate in Santa Ana.

Mr. Munro was a graduate of Santa Ana high school and later attended the University of Illinois. He is at present employed with the William R. Staats Bond and Brokerage company in Los Angeles. He was a former resident of Vancouver. His bride, a former resident of Kansas, also attended the Santa Ana high school. She is at present, employed with the Santa Ana Telephone and Telegraph company. Her gift to the groom was a leather travelling case, fitted with ebony.

Invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames W. F. Dietrich, David Ouldwell, Roscoe Dietrich, John Crawford, Jack Taylor, A. E. Shoenmaker, C. H. Chapman, H. D. McMillan, A. N. Cox, Raymond Hill, Howard McIlwain, George Spielman, A. L. Hellburg, W. J. McPeak, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradley and family and Mrs. Van Dusen, all of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. May and son, Liston, Frank Loomis, Forrest Loomis, of Bakersfield; Miss Mary Jane Loomis, Elmer Loomis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seybold, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Heusel, Mr. and Mrs. George Nornington, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herman, of Long Beach; H. The former Miss Colyn is a graduate of the Teacher's College in St. Clyde, Minn., and later attended U. S. C. For some time she has been a teacher in the Pasa Robles grammar school. Mr. Bruntz attended Hastings college at Nebraska, and later received his bachelor's degree at Stanford University. For the past few years he has been a teacher in the Pasa Robles high school.

On their return from the east, the young couple will make their home in Los Gatos, Calif., where Mr. Bruntz will be a member of the high school teaching staff.

Those present at the wedding and the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn White and family, of Corona; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reeves, of Pasadena; Miss Janice de Haan, Miss Eulalia Colyn, and the hosts, the Rev and Mrs. L. Colyn.

Luncheon was served at one long table centered with a basket of pink larkspur and yellow columbine with a wedding bell away from the handle, which was further adorned with a huge bow of tulle. The little pink and yellow nut cups bore miniature wedding bells, carrying out the motif which was evident in the place cards as well. Pink tapers on either side of the delicate bouquet completed the attractive picture.

In the bridge games which followed, Miss Martha Adams of Anaheim, held high score, Miss Charlene Lowell, second and Mrs. George R. Dickson, third. With the awarding of the prizes came the large basket, continuing the bell motif, filled with an array of the loveliest of linens for the young bride-to-be.

Those present other than the honoree, Miss Virginia Lowell, were Miss Jane Harwood of San Dimas, Miss Lorena Porter of Los Angeles, Mrs. Noral Evans of Orange, the Misses Martha and Catherine Adams, Frances Reid, Veda Mitchell, Lois Winslow, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Thomas Oglesby, Mrs. Jo Lowell, and the hosts, Mrs. George R. Dickson, all of this city. The wedding will be an event of July 19.

Colyn-Bruntz Wedding Was Lovely Event of This Morning

An effective simplicity was the keynote of the lovely wedding of Miss Violet K. Colyn, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. L. Colyn, and George C. Bruntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bruntz, of Nebraska, held this morning in the home of the bride's parents, 1701 West Sixth street. Beneath an archway of asparagus fern and delicate pink larkspur, the couple plighted their troth, with the bride's father, the Rev. Mr. L. Colyn, a retired minister of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

The bride was very attractive, wearing a shell pink crepe frock, whose smart lines were enhanced by a graceful shoulder cape. Her blond loveliness was accentuated by the tiny circlet of orange blossoms which held in place her softly waving hair. She carried an arm bouquet of pink gardenias combined with creamy rose buds and briar cliff roses.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Colyn's sister, Eulalia, played a violin solo, the ever popular "At Dawning," accompanied by Mrs. W. E. Reeves. The young couple entered to the strains of Wagner's Wedding March.

Following the impressive rites, the Rev. and Mrs. Colyn were hosts at a charmingly appointed three course breakfast, at which time the new Mrs. Bruntz cut the wedding cake, a delectable white confection topped with a tiny bride and groom. The color scheme at the table completed the pink and white motif which featured the decorations. The young couple then left for an automobile trip to Nebraska, where they will visit with Mr. Bruntz's parents.

Mrs. Harry Lewis Was Speaker at Y. W. C. A. Luncheon

Featuring Mrs. Harry Lewis as speaker, the Y. W. C. A. meeting in the Y rooms Friday noon, was the last of a series of membership meetings to be held prior to September. About 35 guests were present.

Mrs. Lewis discussed the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. work in the South American cities, and stressed the need of help to be extended Americans and other families in the foreign stations. Having recently returned from an extended visit to the Latin countries, she was especially well-fitted to develop her interesting topic. Introducing the speaker was Mrs. C. L. Smith, president of the organization.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Earl Morris, chairman of the membership committee. Those who have assisted her during the season are Mrs. Harry Gardner, and Mrs. T. R. Trawick. The object of the luncheons, which were started several months ago, was to acquaint people with the work of the group as well as the new Young Women's quarters, and the members feel that their efforts have been well rewarded.

The fall activities will begin with the first membership dinner to be held September 25.

Sorority Sisters Fete Miss Velma Miller And Her Fiance

The approaching marriage of Miss Velma Miller to E. M. Sundquist has been the center of interest amongst a wide circle of friends, none of whom have been more zealous in their feting of the popular young bride-elect than her sorority sisters.

One of the most charming of these recent compliments came as a surprise to the popular Santa Ana couple, and was held Saturday evening in the Burbank home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stites. (Mrs. Stites and Miss Miller were pledged to the same sorority.) Bridge was the diversion of the evening, and when tallies were checked, it was found high score for women was held by Miss Helen Martin, while Mrs. Charles Cook held second high. Men's high score was held by Archie Eckdale, and second by Charles Cook. It was when the prizes were being awarded that the surprise of the evening came, and Miss Miller and Mr. Sundquist were presented with a lovely electric "Toastmaster" toaster, the gift of the group combined. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook Jr., of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Eckdale of San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hess of Uplands; Miss Helen Martin and Richard Crane of Santa Monica; Miss Harriet Sterret and Gordon Crane of Hollywood; the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stites of Burbank, and Miss Velma Miller, and E. M. Sundquist, honor guests, of this city.

FACTS

FACT NO. 15.

Have you ever noticed that your coffee varies in flavor from time to time? Of course you have! Everyone has that experience. Sometimes the fault is yours—some slight variation in the way you make it—for coffee flavor is the most delicate and sensitive thing that enters your kitchen. And because it is sensitive, the fault is often in the coffee itself. To maintain a uniform coffee flavor, calls for uniform methods in the factory, as well as in the home. There is one place in America where coffee methods never vary. They have no occasion to vary, because only one kind of coffee is made there. The place where coffee methods never vary is the Schilling roasting room. Good coffee is not being roasted today and a cheap grade tomorrow—or a cheap grade at 10 o'clock and a good grade at 11 o'clock. It is the only place where cheap coffee is never found. The finest things usually come from those who devote their attention to fine things only. There are many excellent coffees—but where is the finest apt to come from? Which one is apt to be uniformly good day after day, week after week?

FACT NO. 33. Schilling Lemon Extract contains 3 times the amount of lemon oil required by the United States Government Pure Food Department—3 times as much! And more than most any other you can buy. That is why it goes further—why it imparts a richer lemon flavor.

ANN WEBER OF ORANGE BRIDE OF W. SEIVERS

ORANGE, June 30.—Miss Ann Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weber, of Germany, and William Seivers, of Orange, were married Saturday at a quiet church wedding which took place at the Immanuel Lutheran church, with the Rev. Walter Loretz reading the impressive service.

The bride, a lovely titian blonde, was in white tulle with a veil of tulle and her matron of honor, Mrs. Henry Osterloh wore a frock of beige. Mr. Osterloh served the bridegroom as best man. The bride has been living in Orange for the past two years and the bridegroom is a rancher of this vicinity. The young people will make their home in this city. For traveling Mrs. Seivers chose a knitted sports suit of black and white with close-fitting hat of white. The young people are spending their honeymoon in Catalina. A number of relatives arrived here from Germany this week to be present for the event.

BIRD OF A FISH

TOLEDO, June 30.—Stacy L. McNary is probably the only fisherman in the world who went casting and caught a bird. He cast out his line with dexterity into a stream at Braying, Mich. The hook caught in something that gave out a cry. He reeled in as fast as he could, but had a hard struggle before he brought his catch to shore. It proved to be a hawk. He later caught some fish.

3 THROWN IN BAY AS BOAT OVERTURNS

NEWPORT BEACH, June 30.—A house party for the week end given by Mrs. Torrey Everett, of Pasadena at her summer home at Corona del Mar, was given a thrill by a performance rendered by three of the guests in the bay yesterday afternoon.

The party consisted of Mrs. Everett, her sister-in-law and niece, Mrs. Nixon and Miss Nixon, son-in-law, Mr. Burton, the Misses Leonard and J. W. Meyers.

In the afternoon Meyers took Mrs. Nixon and Burton out for a ride in his outboard motor speeder. It was a new boat and when opposite the weather signal station at the inner end of the breakwater, he attempted to cross out of the wake of one of the big speed boats. In jumping over the waves of this swell, Meyers' boat stuck her nose into one, twisted over and turned turtle. They all swam out without assistance and brought their boat to shore.

It was found that as the engine was running when it was immersed, that it blew out a cylinder head and shorted the coil. Beyond having to borrow olive oil in which to soak their watches until taken to the cleaners, and having to sit wrapped in a blanket while their clothes dried, they were reported to be none the worse for the experience.

ORANGE PERSONALS

Mrs. Angeline Courtney, of 362 South Parker street, entertained Saturday evening. Plates were laid for Dwight Gates and daughter, Genella, of Berkeley; Mrs. G. A. Gates and the hostess and daughter, Helena.

A family group motored to Irvine park after church service Sunday honoring the oldest son of Mrs. G. A. Gates, Dwight Gates, of Berkeley. A bountiful dinner was served and pictures were taken of those attending. Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Cleveland, Grace Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Richards, Jack Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Jess McDaniels, of Huntington Beach, and son, Ronald; Frank Morgan, of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Morgan and daughter, Luberta; Mrs. G. Dwight Gates, of Berkeley, and his mother, Mrs. G. A. Gates, spent Friday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Nina Kenworthy, of East Palmyra street, is a special nurse at the county hospital caring for Robert Mathews, injured in an auto wreck recently.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 30.—Mrs. J. Barnhart entertained the members of the XYZ club at a bridge luncheon in her home Monday afternoon. Pink dahlias decorated the tables and rooms. Guests were Mesdames J. R. Wallace, S. W. Newnes, J. Willis Benie, Elmer Hochstein, Valma Sullivan, E. K. Kirby, L. T. Gillilan, and Mrs. Ethel Charlton as a special guest. Prize winners were Mrs. Newnes and Mrs. Barnhart.

Mrs. Lewis Edwardson entertained with a "500" party in her home on Center street Tuesday afternoon. The guest list included Mesdames R. W. McCool, H. Smith, J. C. Wallace, Valma Sullivan, W. C. McFarland, Clay Minnix, Ralph Drollinger, John Golaspy, A. M. Christensen, O. Christensen, F. Christensen, H. P. Bender, E. A. Eisenacher, J. Queyrel, A. Queyrel, Frank Hill, H. C. Foss, A. C. Schalles, John Wagner, William Berkenstock, A. J. Edwards and D. W. Solesby.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Minnix, Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Solesby.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Edwardson celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary Monday evening with a card party, followed by a supper. Each table had a tiny bride and groom center piece and all decorations and tallies carried out the wedding theme. Baskets of flowers, many of them gifts from various guests, decorated the rooms.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Oscar Carlson, Mrs. E. K. Kirby, S. C. Harmony, Elmer Hochstein, Mrs. Ethel Charlton and E. K. Kirby.

Included in the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hochstein, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. A. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Halber, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Harmony, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Solesbee, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gillilan, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Beck, of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Verne L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rospaw, Mrs. Ethel Charlton and Mrs. Olive Bailey.

Fifty members of the Bible class of the Presbyterian church attended the regular business and social meeting which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Huntley Monday evening.

A short business session was held, at which plans were made for a picnic at which women of the class will be guests of the men.

A program was given, with vocal numbers by Miss Elizabeth Skiles, of El Modena, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Skiles; duet and quartet numbers by Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodwin, of Fullerton, and their son and daughter; readings by Mr. Goodwin; and vocal numbers by Miss Louise Cottom of Fullerton.

The Rev. D. J. Brigham gave a short talk about his recent trip east. Miss Dorothy Abbott, president of the Orange county Christian Endeavor union, was the guest of honor, and was presented with a handsome travel book in which to keep a record of her trip abroad. Miss Abbott is leaving the first of July for the International Christian Endeavor conference in Berlin.

At the close of the evening refreshments of strawberry shortcake and coffee were served by the hostess.

KREG TO STAGE BIG FROLIC ON TUESDAY NIGHT

On Tuesday night, July 1, from 11 p. m. to 1 a. m., July 2, KREG will have a frolic, broadcasting from the studio in The Register building.

Certain merchants of this city have sponsored this frolic and $20 will be given as a cash prize to the one who sends in a telegram or telephone message from the most distant point.

It is put at this hour for the reason that there is better reception and there are not so many stations broadcasting.

KREG has received letters with a verified program, Long Island, New York, Poughkeepsie, and other New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania towns.

The frolic is worth while hearing if anybody is listening in. It will be in charge of Mrs. Paine, who is well known to the local listeners in over KREG.

FIRST IN THE NATION

WHAT DOES THIS

MEAN TO THE PRUDENT SAVER?

At the mid-point of the year thoughtful people review their financial progress, and consider whether the methods of employing their funds can be improved in safety, convenience or profit. They might well consider the position Pacific States Savings occupies—nationally and in California.

To California Pacific States Savings has just brought leadership in a highly important field of finance. This State now has the largest building and loan association in the Nation.

We do not believe that you should place your funds here solely because of this fact. But we do believe that back of this institution's pre-eminence in resources are facts you should weigh in considering our 6% facilities for savings.

Forty-one years of single minded devotion to one purpose has been the reason back of our growth. We have expressed this devotion by unwavering conservatism and by the voluntary maintenance of many outstanding factors of strength and liquidity. Thus the confidence of three generations of prudent savers has been earned and preserved.

So "First of the Nation" means more than just size-dominance. And yet our size, too, affords important elements of protection as will be seen from these comparisons *between Pacific States Savings and the 234 other associations of the State.

Pacific States Savings Invested Capital is equal to the combined Invested Capital of 78 other California building and loan associations. Pacific States Savings Surplus and Undivided Profits are equal to the combined Surplus and Undivided Profits of 150 other California building and loan associations.

Pacific States Savings Cash on Hand is equal to the combined Cash on Hand of 223 other California building and loan associations.

Pacific States Savings safeguards as much savings as 152 other California building and loan associations combined.

Pacific States Savings holds more than one-eighth of all the savings in all the building and loan associations of California.

Pacific States Savings' gain in savings during the first quarter of this year was equal to 40% of the combined gain of all the other California building and loan associations.

*Based upon the March 31st "Call" statement from an analysis made by F. W. Lafrentz & Company and Bullock, Kellogg and Mitchell, certified public accountants.

We solicit the use of our 6% facilities by individuals, firms and corporations, trustees, executors, legal guardians and other legal custodians of funds who desire attractive interest with long proved safety, liquidity and protection against capital shrinkage.

We invite large and small funds which may be added to at will. Interest will be mailed regularly or may be left to compound.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS: We shall be glad to undertake the transfer of funds from other cities . . . or the conversion of securities.

YACHTING NEWS

BY S. H. LUCAS

The second trying out race for the stars was sailed over the straightaway course off Balboa and Newport and resulted in a win for the old campaigner, Walton Hubbard. It was easy going all the way and an ideal day for the stars. The finish was as follows:

- Saturday Race
- 1—723 Tempe IV, Hubbard.
 - 2—568 Turtle Star, Bartholmae.
 - 3—742 Vega, Lyons.
 - 4—297 Barbara J. Beardsley.
 - 5—482 Sirius, Murphy.
 - 6—628 All Star, Keith.
 - 7—372 Arrow, Cheesewright.
 - 8—384 Hilde, Hopkins.
 - 9—747 Patsy II, J. T. Murphy.
 - 10—348 Intrepid, Modisette.

The afternoon of Sunday found a fresh breeze from the southwest. The high fog of the morning had passed away and the 10 starters were all at the line when the starting gun was fired at 1:40 p. m. Nobody used the advantages for starting that were available, as with a wind over the quarter, the skippers hung around the weather mark, blanketing and interfering with each other to the length that one boat was compelled to go outside the mark and return to start properly. A position at the leeward end of the line would not only have allowed timing the start to have without interference, but would have allowed the boat starting there to have reached the first mark in a shorter time than would a boat higher up.

It was a soldier's wind, (a slide all the way round) so no windward work was possible. Just after the start Billie Lyons was pulled into a luffing match and lost out for the same reason that he did yesterday, but although he finished last, he made up a good many seconds in the last half. Hubbard just started ahead and stayed there, although he was challenged sharply by Bartholmae, who apparently was going the fastest, but Hubbard had the weather position and held him off until both boats had gone around the mark off the breakwater; then it was a run home. Here is where Hubbard shines, and he gained 34 seconds on that leg.

The starting gun of the San Clemente race was fired at 12:15 p. m., Saturday, and the fleet of 13 starters went over the line with the "Thorobred" in the lead, closely followed by "Pandora," "Westward," and "Ah Meek."

Paul Miller, chairman of the regatta committee, and Jim Webster, the official timer, were the officials in charge of the start.

The wind was light and from the southwest and the big sloop "Westward" found the going to her liking and soon opened up a big lead. As the boats pulled off the land, the breeze picked up so that all had rounded the end of Santa Catalina before dark. Morning found the fleet rounding Pyramids Head and the romp home with the southeast breeze over the quarter made for an easy and enjoyable sail.

The "Westward" finished first and won the Adohr trophy, while "Babe" won the race on corrected time, and "Enchantress" the special prize for the big fellows.

The starters were Amadinda, Contender, Ah Meek, Enchantress, Endymion, Ocean Wolf, Thorobred, Mavin, Westward, Invader, Diablo, and Pandora.

Over 1400 At Pioneers And City Employees Picnics

EVENTS STAGED
IN IRVINE PARK
OVER WEEK END

Irvine park was a lively spot on Saturday and Sunday, with the city employees of Santa Ana staging their annual picnic and the pioneers of Orange county gathering on Sunday. The city employees event was attended by 250 and it was estimated that approximately 1200 persons were present for the reunion of pioneers.

Many incidents in the lives of pioneers were recounted at the annual picnic. Popularity of the annual event increases each year, as the attendance yesterday was larger than at any of the previous reunions.

Growth Recalled
There were many groupings of the old-timers and they passed happy hours in the discussion of events of the early days that have had their bearing on the developments that are in evidence today. The days when Santa Ana was the center of a mustard patch and wild growth, when most of the rich farm lands southwest of Santa Ana were under water, when wide shoes had to be attached to the feet of horses to keep them from sinking in the peat lands, when celery growing was first introduced here by J. L. Smeltzer and when the biggest pumpkins and tallest corn in the world were grown right here within a stone's throw of Santa Ana—these and many other conditions existing in the early days were recalled and recited when some of the real old pioneers got together.

It was a happy day for all and friendships of 30, 35 and 40 years ago were renewed, as, in many instances, old neighbors and friends met for the first time in many, many years.

Short Talks
Following lunch, there was a short impromptu program of addresses, with W. B. Williams, president of the Orange County Pioneers association, in charge. Judge J. W. Ballard, second judge of the Orange county superior court, was present from Los Angeles, and made a happy talk on the days of yore. Others called upon were J. C. Joplin, S. T. McNeill, James Sleeper, W. C. Jerome, Henry Kuechel and Jack Landell.

Old time music, by J. W. Mitchell and others, offered other entertainment. James Sleeper was elected president for the coming year, and G. W. Young, vice-president. Elmer Burns and George Peters were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

City Employees Frolic
With identities hidden behind disguises, employees of the city cut up some big capers here and at Irvine park Saturday afternoon, the occasion of the annual picnic by the employees.

The afternoon program was initiated with a parade, featured by a fake quarrel between a man and woman at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, as the procession approached. Jack Miller, a husky man, took the character of the woman, and Bryant Walker was the man in the case. The fight between the man and woman attracted a big crowd to the corner, and the fact that it was a side play did not become known to spectators until a police car came along and the fighters were picked up and carried away, the police car taking a position in the parade line.

A large proportion of the employees and members of their families entered into the spirit of the "tacky" feature of the afternoon and many novel and unique costumes were noted in the large group.

Faces of the city councilmen present and some of the other elected officers of the city were disguised by lip stick marks that gave them the appearance of Indians in war paint.

J. L. Word, of the water department, was given the prize for the best costume for men, and Mrs. Gene Heiss carried away the honors for the women.

Councilmen Compete
With Councilman J. L. McBride officiating as announcer, the afternoon program of sports was run to schedule, the events consisting of such contests as cracker-eating, foot racing, potato race, sack race, three-legged race, ball throwing for women, pole race, pig chase and a ball game. One of the features of the race events was a contest between the three councilmen present—McBride, Mayor F. L. Purinton and W. J. Kelly. Kelly won the contest, the mayor having been left at the post. The two councilmen managed to finish the 100-yard dash without either falling down. The pole race was an event of six men to a team, each member of each team being astride a pole. The team of which Mayor Purinton was a member was the last to cross the finish line, his team mates asserting that they were handicapped by reason of the fact they had to carry the mayor. His legs, they declared, were too short to permit his feet to reach the ground.

Dinner and Dance
The afternoon exercises whetted the appetites of the picnicers and the fine "mock chicken" dinner served by W. K. Duffy and his assistants at 6 o'clock was ravenously devoured.

Dancing in the pavilion followed the dinner. During the dancing hours Richard Cashion and his son entertained with a "hoe-down."

Approximately 250 persons were present for the dinner, and the crowd was augmented in the evening by arrivals come for the dance.

Committees in charge of various features of the successful picnic were as follows:

Publicity, Dewitt Dudley; dinner, Clyde Jenken; tickets, Edith Gallup; sports, E. L. Vegely; prizes, Mrs. Ruby Bush; parade, Allen Hershey; special stunts, Harry Southworth; marshal of the day, L. H. Banks.

RECALLS FIGHT TO KEEP BIBLE
FOR POSTERITY

"Ever since the Bible or any part of it was written there has been, we may believe, a fear on the part of those who cherished it that attacks upon it by its enemies might injure or destroy it. We hear expressions of that fear at times in our own day," said the Rev. Harry Evan Owings pastor, in his Sunday night sermon at the First Baptist church.

"In the early centuries of the Christian era there was the fear that the Bible would be destroyed if placed in the hands of the common people who were unable to read it, or to interpret it wisely if they could read. It is true that in this way the Bible was preserved but so well preserved in the process that it was nearly destroyed from lack of use. The Protestant Reformation was the means of giving the Book to the people.

"Then another fear developed, the fear that arose because of the attacks of sceptics or scoffers, like Tom Paine and Ingersoll, or the unlearned but nevertheless destructive attitude of philosophers and scientists. And Bible lovers rose to its defense. Then again with the development of the new field of study, literary or historical criticism of the Bible, people began to fear that the Bible would be destroyed because their own point of view was being challenged or the extremists were advancing wild theories and positions.

"In my judgment these attacks are not at all the most serious threats. The chief attack upon the Bible is occurring in the house of its friends in that we are not reading and making it a part of our daily living. Both fraternal orders and churches are professing to love and cherish it but hardly ever use it. The Bible is in danger of being destroyed if we continue this attitude of paying little attention to it and not drawing upon it for daily inspiration for conduct. In a word the Bible is to be saved by intelligent use. Failure to use of course leads to one thing only—its destruction."

'HARD TIMES' IS TOPIC OF
SERMON DELIVERED SUNDAY
BY THE REV. U. E. HARDING

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, spoke Sunday evening on "Hard Times, Why, and Will They Continue?" He took for his text Jer. 14:7. He said in part:

"I am touching tonight on one of the town topics. It is attracting the attention of the entire civilized world. I hear some say that times are worse than they were during the Cleveland administration. Others recite the Roosevelt panic. I remember both. I was but a lad during the former and I remember seeing the long freight trains loaded with men on their way to join Coxy's army. I remember the campaign songs on the birds nests, in smoke stacks, and the soup houses. I remember too, of eggs selling for three cents a dozen, hens for three cents per pound, wheat for 20 cents per bushel, corn for 15 cents and hogs for three cents per pound.

"I was serving my first pastorate during the Roosevelt panic, it was a mission charge, my salary was $5 per week, but seldom paid in full. So I can talk on this subject. I haven't forgotten.

"Why this financial depression? Many are blaming the president. However those utterances are wet words, yet many good meaning people may be influenced by them. I can't see how the old saloon, which brought such poverty and crime, if brought back, would bring us law and order, coupled with prosperity. My memory is still good on those old days too.

"If we are, and must suffer for righteousness, we should do it gladly and rejoice. As for me and my house I would rather have hard times than have the saloon open before my four sons.

"Mr. Hoover perhaps polled more vote from Christian people irrespective of party politics, than any ever elected to that high office and of course the devil hates this administration. Mr. Hoover went into office over two of the great political machine guns in this U. S. A. He had the support of the praying people and the mothers of this land and no must have it now."

Flour is a combustible substance. When a cloud of it floats in the air of a room every particle is in immediate contact with oxygen, and a flame or even a spark will cause it to burn.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections in the lesson sermon presented the promise of Christ Jesus delivered shortly before the ascension, "And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not harm them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Whoever reaches the understanding of Christian Science in its proper signification will perform the sudden cures of which it is capable; but this can be done only by taking up the cross and following Christ in the daily life."

SENDERS GIVEN
MAIL LOST ON
GRAHAM PLANE

When "Maury" Graham and his government mail plane crashed in Utah on that ill-fated night of January 10, nearly six months ago, over 200 residents of Santa Ana had letters in the mail bags he was carrying. It was estimated today by T. E. Stephenson, postmaster.

Approximately 30 or 35 of the original senders received their letters back today as all with return addresses were returned by the postal authorities after the plane was found on June 24. This was done on the theory that the senders would be better able to dispose of the correspondence. Letters having no return address were mailed on to their destinations.

E. T. O'Malley, of the E. T. C. Auto Laundry, was one of the Santa Ana people who wondered what had become of their letters. His special delivery envelope, containing $15 and addressed to his sister in Denver, Colo., of course never arrived and he wrote many times to his sister over the matter. The envelope has been returned and is now eagerly being sought for by collectors.

Among other Santa Anans who received letters back were John Estes and Eddie West, sports editor of The Register. Unfortunately West received his letter with the stamp torn, as the letter was opened by mistake. It contained a money order, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, wife of the postmaster, also had a letter returned, which was intended for Terry Stephenson Jr., who was attending the University of Texas.

features of the evening.

Word has been received here of the recent marriage of Mrs. Ella Page Seward, last year principal at the Laurel grammar school, to J. E. Hosmer, an attorney of Silverton, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Hosmer will reside in Silverton.

Paul Norris, chemistry and science instructor at the Brea-Olinda high school, with Mrs. Norris, is enjoying a wonderful motor trip at various points in the east and middle west. Another teacher who is visiting in the east is Miss El Doris Wood, attending the N.E.A. convention which is being held in her old home town, Columbia, Ohio.

Mrs. Rockwell Wedded To Financier in Agua Caliente

Many friends won by Mrs. Mabel G. Rockwell in her years in Santa Ana as head of the Mabel Rockwell School of Dancing, were deeply interested in news of her marriage in Agua Caliente Friday afternoon, to Elmer E. Webster, prominent orange grower of Fontana, and a Southland financier who recently resigned his presidency of the Bank of Italy at Redondo Beach, to give attention to his ranch interests.

For the ceremony, which was one of extreme simplicity, Mrs. Rockwell chose a smart costume of platinum gray silk voile hand-embroidered in soft pastel colors, and worn with a smart little hat to harmonize. After a few days in Agua Caliente and other Southland cities, Mr. and Mrs. Webster were to return to Long Beach where Mr. Webster maintains quarters at the Pacific Coast club, and where they will be established for the present.

Mrs. Webster's dance classes were left to the direction of her sister, Mrs. Beatrice Reynolds, recently from Chicago, but it is believed that the popular head of the school will resume her teaching for awhile at least. She has many friends here who will regret losing her to any other Southland city. She has been especially active in the Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club, and has always placed her studio at the disposal of the members for their occasional parties.

Patriotic Motif Is Featured at Club Dinner Party

CHOOSING the coming national holiday celebration as the motif for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Neer were hosts to members of the "Tulla Fun" bridge club Saturday night when they entertained with a charmingly appointed dinner in the blue room at Ketter's cafe. A variety of summer blooms in brilliant shades of red and blue, combined with white blossoms constituted the appropriate floral scheme. Pretty little flags, together with candy canes in patriotic colors added the final touch of the gala scene.

In the bridge games which followed the dinner menu, Mrs. Thomas Tournat scored high for women, while Mrs. Kenneth Coulson held low. William Stanford, of Fullerton, held men's high score, and Homer Neer was attractive prize.

Those sharing the pleasures of the evening with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Neer, were Messrs. and Mesdames Noble Watson, Thomas Tournat, Homer Neer, Frank Dane, William Lalonde, William Stanford, of Fullerton, Kenneth King, of Orange, B. Bankers, Harry Drown, Homer Neer, R. J. Cook, of Capistrano, and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coulson.

Miss Dorothy Mayhew Presents Juniors In Recital

Winning special commendation for her display of technique and talent, junior piano pupils of Miss Dorothy Mayhew were presented in recital Saturday evening, in the instructor's studio of music at 1009 North Main street.

Opening numbers included MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" played by Dorothy Drew, and Edwin McIntire's "Indian Dance in the Fire Light" played by Dorothy Ellery. Two charming numbers, composed by John Williams, "To Sleep My Dolly," and "Wake Up Dolly" were presented by Nannette Hubbard. Another of Mr. Williams' compositions, "Drifting Waltz," was given by Dorothy Kriesher, followed by a duet, "Summertime Waltz," given by Miss Mayhew and Nannette Hubbard. Rubinstein's "Melody in F" was played by Gwendeth Abbott. Dorothy Ellery presented "Dolly's Funeral March" by Tachowski, and Dorothy Drew and Gwendeth Abbott played two delightful duets.

Miss Mayhew gave an introductory talk on "Creative Music," which her pupils are studying at this time, followed by a delightful demonstration. The Misses Nannette Hubbard, Dorothy Drew, Gwendeth Abbott and Dorothy Ellery presented original compositions in illustration of Miss Mayhew's discussion.

The concluding numbers on the program were original selections by Miss Mayhew, "Russian Dance," and "An Hour of Bliss" which received the unstinted praise of the many guests present.

Compliment Is Paid Mrs. Watkins on Her Birthday

Complimenting Mrs. Fred Watkins on her birthday anniversary, was an enjoyable party held last week in the home of Mrs. A. E. Chast, 822 North Flower street. A striking decorative effect was achieved by the hostess by using vivid orange blossoms and minor appointments in combination with shade of green.

Guests took part in a lively card contest, in which the attractive prizes chosen by Mrs. Chast, were awarded Mrs. Cecil Owens, scoring high, and Mrs. J. P. Eyer, low. To Mrs. Watkins was presented an assortment of gifts, prettily wrapped in green, and proving to be additions to her set of green crystal. The gifts were from the assembled guests.

Appropriate birthday refreshments served before the afternoon came to a close, emphasized the prevailing green tones of the decorative scheme.

Mrs. Chast's guests included in addition to her honoree, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Polly Fredricks, Mrs. Merle Hussong, and Mrs. J. P. Eyer of this city; Mrs. Cecil Owens of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Charles Swaney of Anaheim.

Lovely Setting Given Bryan-Long Wedding At Tesoro Rancho

Standing at an altar erected beneath the tall pines on the lawn of Tesoro Rancho, Placentia home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bradford of Placentia and La Canada, Miss Kathryn E. Bryan, daughter of the home, was united in marriage Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock to Dr. Frank E. Long of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Long of Altadena.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Frank Dowling in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives. Preceding the ceremony Thomas Askin of Fullerton, accompanied by Mrs. Askin at the piano, sang "The Wedding Song" by Rosa; "Beloved It Is Morn" by Algard; "Sweetheart" and "Oh Promise Me" by Reginald De Koven.

As Mrs. Askin played the wedding march from Lohengrin the bride party proceeded to the altar. The bride, on the arm of Mr. Bradford, wore a gown of heavy ivory satin, fashioned along princess lines with a long train and trimmed with real lace, embroidered with pearls and rhinestones. Her long tulle veil was starred with orange blossoms and was gathered into a pearl cap. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Martha Lind of Los Angeles, maid of honor, wore a quaint ruffled gown of pink organza and carried a shower bouquet of pastel hued sweet peas. Similar gowns were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Louise Logan of Colton, in yellow organza and Miss Grace Hirligoven of Fullerton in green. Each carried sweet peas and wore a head-band of flowers. The flower girl, little Margaret Jean Bradford, niece of the bride, wore peach chiffon and scattered rose petals from a basket.

Robert Lawson of Los Angeles was best man and Howard Lawson and John Bryan, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The garden was lighted with Japanese lanterns for the occasion, and spotlights brought out the beauty of hunk pink and white flowered oleanders, and lighted up the altar, banked with palms and ferns. Baskets of gladiolus blossoms and ferns decorated the home itself and roses and other flowers were used upstairs, where the gifts were on display. A huge white bell with smaller bells in a shower effect hung above the table in the dining room, which had a centerpiece of roses surrounded by white tapers in crystal candlesticks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long were hosts at the buffet supper, which followed the reception and members of Mrs. Bradford's bridge club assisted.

During the evening the Ebaristo Dias Mexican troubador orchestra of Sunset Beach, with Senorita Anita Ruiz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ruiz of Placentia as soloist, furnished music.

Mrs. Long is a graduate of the Fullerton union high school and the Santa Oatman School of Drama, Los Angeles. Dr. Long is a graduate of Baylor university, Waco, Texas, and of the University of Indiana school of medicine, and is a member of the Nu Sigma Nu fraternity.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS FRATERNAL HOUSEHOLD

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Woman Learns To Ask "Why?"

At the 20th biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, held recently, the editor of a magazine read widely by women made the statement that the American woman, long confined to the kitchen, is coming out of her retirement and beginning to think and act constructively on questions relating to her own and family's well being.

He attributes this step forward to the press, and rightly we say. There was a time when the well-bred woman allowed herself to be quoted only through her lord and master, but since she arbitrarily struck the word "obey" out of the marriage service she does her own talking, and has reversed the order of the axiom that "a man is innocent until proved guilty." For her, a new fact is questionable until proved otherwise, and that is the way it should be.

Out of this questioning attitude of her has grown knowledge of better ways to live, better ways to manage and educate her children.

Women don't have to look to a vague future for the Millennium any more. It is right in the hollow of their capable hand, and they know it.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Fresh Strawberry Whip
1 egg white
Pinch of salt
1-2 cup powdered sugar
1-2 cup fruit pulp
1-2 tablespoon lemon juice
Whipped cream or whole fresh berries for garnish.
Fresh fruit of any kind can be used in place of strawberries.

Raspberries, very ripe apricots, peeled, and well ripened peaches are quite as delicious as strawberries.

To be exactly right this whip must be served almost as soon as made. Fifteen minutes will be plenty of time for chilling if the ingredients are cold before mixing. The recipe as given has just three portions in it.

Whip the egg white with the pinch of salt until stiff enough to stand up in little duck tails, begin adding the sugar, beating as you do so until the whip has a satiny texture and is very stiff. Set on ice while the berries are prepared by mashing very smoothly.

Measure out the required amount, having more pulp than liquid. Fold into the meringue, add lemon juice and set back to chill a few minutes longer. Serve in attractive sherbet glasses, garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream or with fresh berries, slightly mashed and sweetened.

Individual portions of this dessert have a calorie value of 150 when three people are served. The sugar accounts for most of these calories.

I announced last week that the subject for the current leaflet would be of interest to women no longer in the girl class. I call it GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY.

If the passing of youth has left a pain in your heart for its loss, send for this leaflet and take a look at the other side of the picture and see how much it has to offer. A stamped, self-addressed envelope brings you a fine way to utilize left-over egg yolks, always a casualty after making Angel Food cake.

'BIG HOUSE' OPENS AT BROADWAY TODAY

"The Big House," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's gigantic portrayal of what goes on behind the big gray walls of a state penitentiary, the unrest, the life of a criminal in the raw, begins a four day run at the Fox Broadway theater today, playing through Thursday night.

With a cast of thousands, and with three prominent actors in the leading roles, the picture promises to be the best entertainment of its kind that has been witnessed here recently.

Robert Montgomery, Chester Morris and Wallace Beery have the three leading parts in the production, all three playing the parts of criminals. They are cell mates in the picture. Lella Hyams plays the leading female part.

The picture is a sensational expose of the existing conditions in United States prisons that cause outbreaks, and the prison break recorded in "The Big House" is said to be the most original, and at the same time more realistic than has been seen in a picture.

Montgomery plays the part of a college boy, sent to prison for an automobile accident, who, herded with the hardened criminals, becomes even harder than they. His part in the picture is remarkable. It is the first picture in which the actual shooting of firearms has been recorded.

But all the picture is not prison scenes. There is a remarkable love story that runs through the film and accounts for much of the entertainment.

ZANE GREY FILM AT WEST COAST

Zane Grey's "The Border Legion," reported to be one of the most interesting western pictures ever filmed, opens a three-day run at the Fox West Coast theater today.

The stories of Zane Grey have made interesting reading to thousands of persons. The films, most all of which have been made by Paramount, have attracted other thousands, until "The Border Legion" was made, and now this great thriller, said to be the most fascinating story of them all, is expected to break all records for Grey's stories.

Paramount has filmed 38 different Grey stories, but in "The Border Legion," the scenes were shot in the exact spots in northern California, where the story was based. The story of highwaymen, as they were known in the last century, in California, the plot is based on the gold rush days that kept California ruled with a six shooter and a rope.

Jack Holt, one of the leading western stars, has the principal role in the picture, while the other principal part is played by Richard Arlen. Aside from the feature, "Campus Crushes," all-talking comedy, "Ballad Class" and a Fox Movietone news reel also are shown.

The famous showman, Barnum, once tried to buy Shakespeare's house for shipment to America, but did not succeed because of the indignant outcry in England. He was even reported at one time to be negotiating for Niagara Falls.

'SONG OF FLAME' AT WALKER TODAY

Walker's State theater where "Song of the Flame," a First National Vitaphone production opened last night.

"Song of the Flame," based on a popular operetta, easily stands out as a notable piece of work. The handling of technicolor has been so far perfected, that the blurring, out-of-focus scenes which have marred a number of previous pictures, are no longer in evidence.

Four players in the large cast deserve particular mention. They are Bernice Claire, the prima donna, Alexander Gray, who plays opposite her, Noah Beery, in an intensely dramatic portrayal of a leader of the evolution depicted in the production, and Alice Gentle, a foremost operatic star.

BAPTISM TOPIC FOR PASTOR OF ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, June 30.—Continuing the series of sermons entitled "With Christ After Pentecost," the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church, preached yesterday morning on "Risen to the Newness of Life," based on a scripture lesson found in Romans 6:11, 12, and a text taken from Galatians 2:20.

"Why does the Christian church insist upon a physical outward baptism as well as the spiritual baptism?" the pastor asked in beginning his sermon. "Our church has always followed the slogan, 'Where the New Testament speaks, we speak.' In John 3:22, 26 and 4:1, 2, we learn that the disciples of Jesus were baptizing converts when Christ was with them. Under the command of Jesus, Matthew 28:19, 20, we find the apostles and others were baptizing their converts after the death of Jesus. We have always followed this New Testament practice.

"The symbolism of baptism is related to other phases of Christian worship. In our scripture lesson and text, as well as in Colossians 2:12 we learn that baptism symbolizes the death, burial and resurrection of Christ. As the candidate is lowered into the water, it symbolizes both the fact of Jesus' death and the fact of the candidate's death to his old life. When the candidate is under the water, it symbolizes the fact of Christ's burial. When the candidate is raised up from the water, it symbolizes both the fact of Christ's resurrection and the fact of the candidate being raised to the newness of life. However, it should be realized that baptism does not bring about this change. It is God through his Spirit that brings the candidate to a newness of life in Christ.

"The outward physical baptism is similar to the wedding ceremony. First, because neither mean the same to all people. Some people are married as a fraud, to gain money, or just because others are doing so. Most people are married because of a deep sincere love for their companion. It is possible for people to be baptized for some fraudulent reason, to help them in business, or just because others are doing so. Most people are baptized because of a deep sincere love for Christ and because they desire to be united to him in living this life. Baptism doesn't mean exactly the same to an older person that it does to a boy or girl. The older person needs to be forgiven the sin of rejecting Christ. The boy or girl may need to be forgiven some sins, but certainly not the sin of rejecting Christ. Baptism doesn't mean the same to one who is already a Christian as it does to one who is just becoming a Christian. If a Christian desires to become a member of this congregation, but has not been baptized by immersion, his baptism has an entirely different meaning. There are plenty of congregations which do not practice immersion, therefore, if he wishes to become a member of this brotherhood and congregation, it must be for the reason that he believes in our fundamental positions. His baptism sets forth this fact to the whole world.

"The wedding ceremony is similar to the outward baptism, in that it unites two beings, in marriage 'the two shall become one flesh' and they shall also become one in spirit. The wedding ceremony is a symbol of this fact. Baptism is a symbol of Christ and man becoming one in spirit.

"The wedding ceremony is similar to the outward baptism, in that it is the start of a new life. After the wedding the couple start a happy home life which grows and develops through the years. After baptism, the new Christian starts his life in Christ which shall develop all through this life and even after death.

"The wedding ceremony and baptism are similar, in that Christ expects us to have the outer sign of the inner experience. Christ went to the wedding ceremony at Cana of Galilee; Christ was baptized and his disciples baptized others in his presence. He said 'Except one be born of water and the spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God.' The spirit of love is primary in marriage. If it is absent, divorce follows. Even though the spirit of love is primary, we do not suggest doing away with the outer form, the wedding ceremony. The spirit is primary in baptism. If it is absent, it leads to back-sliders and disinterested church members. Even though the spirit is primary, why should we suggested doing away with the outer form, or substituting something which does not symbolize the death, burial and resurrection of Christ?"

ORANGE PLACES MANY EXHIBITS AT COUNTY PARK

ORANGE, June 30.—Orange is well represented in the exhibits at the county park. Among the exhibits from Orange is one from the Great Western Cordage company, whose products include twines and intermediate sizes of twine and rope down to the great cables used in fastening ships to docks.

The Thistle Towel company's exhibit is also most attractive with its soft woven towels, bathrobe accessories, baby bibs, rugs and smart drapes.

The manufacture of gold leaf is shown in the exhibit placed by William Grecht of this city. The jars of gold leaf after beating make a colorful note against a dark background.

The Palm Hosiery company has placed a varied assortment of hose and socks on display and the exhibit contains stockings for every member of the family from the baby to mother and father.

In the exhibit placed by bottling works of the county is found samples of the bottling done by Pister and Shadel of this city.

The building is centered with a fern garden, where numbers of ferns are placed among rocks, making a setting of natural beauty. The fruits on display in the cases represent fruit grown in this vicinity. Great care has been taken to provide contrasting backgrounds for the rose-cheeked apples, the purple and green avocados, and for the vegetables which include smooth-skinned egg plants, yellow squash, peppers and chilis.

The exhibits which are now in the building give a partial idea of the great resources of the county and persons visiting the pavilion may gain an idea of the part the manufacturing industries play in the community. Exhibits are to be changed at intervals, it is understood.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The man who drove the hay cart said, "My home is not so far ahead. That's where I'm going to stop. Where will you Tiniies go from there? We're pretty far from town right now. I guess, though, you'll get back somehow. 'Twill do you lots of good to walk out in the open air."

"Well, I don't know!" wee Clowzy cried. "The walking stunt we've often tried, and I know I'll get all tried out. Oh, my, what can we do? When do you drive to town again? I s'pose you go there every night. If it's soon, we'll all wait and then ride back with you."

"Not till tomorrow," said the man. "But, even so, I guess you can stay overnight right at my home. You're welcome as can be. I have a barn that's filled with hay where you can sleep. What do you say? There's not a thing to harm you and it's quite all right with me."

The Travel Man then broke right in and said, "I guess this bunch has been around enough for one long day. I like your plan real well. I'll gladly pay for all our board." "Hurray! Hurray!" the Tiniies roared. "We're going to sleep in his big barn. Oh, gee, that will be swell."

So, after supper they all went up in the big hay loft, intent on getting in a night of sleep before another day. Each one of them slept very sound. The morning found them running round. Soon they were bound for Moscow. They enjoyed it all the way.

When they were at their journey's end and the Travel Man exclaimed, "Now lend an ear and listen to my plan. Odessa is the place where we will next look all around." Soon, for Odessa they were bound. A smile broke out on each one's face.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

METHODISTS ATTEND SERVICES AT BEACH

ANAHEIM, June 30.—With the closing of the 45th annual Southern California Methodist conference, which has been in session in Long Beach since last Tuesday, it is expected that the Rev. Ralph W. Lee, who has been the pastor of the White Temple Methodist church in Anaheim since October, 1929, will be returned for another year of ministry in the local church. The Rev. Mr. Lee went to conference with an invitation from his church for his return. He came to Anaheim from Simi.

There were no services at the White Temple Methodist church Sunday and a large delegation of the membership attended the Southern California annual conference Sunday services in Long Beach. Bishop Charles Wesley Burns, of San Francisco, delivering the morning sermon.

The principals in the farce were members of the church. The Negro parson was J. R. Shockley, the blushing bride was Mrs. Howard Ludy, W. P. SEEK ENTRIES FOR NEWPORT LIGHTS EVENT

NEWPORT BEACH, June 30.—While Japanese lanterns, lighted by candles, will probably again constitute the backbone of the Tournament of Lights here July 12, the use of electricity for such illumination is becoming more and more popular, according to a statement issued by H. L. Sherman, chairman of the Lights committee this year.

Sherman points out that, owing to the large amount of lanterns and other material on hand, the cost of putting an entry in the big lights parade is much smaller than is generally realized. These are loaned to private entries, as well as electrical lighting effects, which were secured last year by the tournament committee from the Shriners' parade in Los Angeles.

An electrical canoe concern which now operates in the bay has also offered to rent at small cost its canoes for those wishing to enter that kind of craft in the Tournament of Lights.

Those who have not yet decided to put a float or craft of some kind in the parade are invited to call at the chamber of commerce office, Balboa, phone 114, and Sherman promises that every co-operation will be given for rigging up any kind of float or boat.

Sherman has prepared a drawing of the bay showing the route of the parade and these will be distributed widely by the chamber.

The parade will start at 8 p. m. at the west end of Balboa island, proceeding eastward to the eastern end of the island, then moving south and turning westward in front of the bay shore, and going westward, north of Bay Island, all along the bay shore to Nineteenth street, where it will turn north, then turn back and proceed eastward along the south shore of Lido Isle, finishing about the eastern end thereof.

SHIP 371 CARS CITRUS DURING PERIOD OF WEEK

FULLERTON, June 30.—Approximately 371 cars of citrus fruit were shipped from this district during the past week, it was revealed today following a check-up of the packing houses.

With a generally improved trend in the citrus market noted throughout the week, especially in the last two days of the week, quotations on oranges advanced somewhat. Both auction and private sales showed a gain, it was announced.

Lemons were steadier with better weather conditions forecast throughout the east for this week, all of which should give additional improvement on this product.

Citrus supplies on the tracks are in good shape. The demand and price are good with indications of a general improvement in prices especially the three days before July 4.

Total shipments showed 140 cars of valencias and 26 cars of lemons from the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange houses and the remainder from the various other houses of the north Orange county area.

NEWPORT HARBOR MASTER APPOINTED

NEWPORT BEACH, June 30.—M. S. Robinson, former president of the Balboa Angling club and until recently captain of one of J. B. McNally's Thistle line of fishing craft operating out of here, has been appointed harbor master.

The appointment is nominally deputy harbor master and was made by Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson, nominally harbor master. It is expected to be approved by the city council at an early date.

Robinson takes the place of Tom O. Jay, who has gone on an extended vacation to Canada and the northwestern states.

Hold Funeral Of Elijah Rhynalds

FULLERTON, June 30.—Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today from the McAbay-Suters chapel for Elijah A. Rhynalds, 55, resident of Fullerton for the past 17 years, who died at his home at 501 North Spadra road Saturday afternoon from an extended illness.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Josephine A. Rhynalds, and a daughter, Mrs. Frances Sullivan, of Fullerton. Three brothers and two sisters in the east also survive.

The Rev. C. R. Montague, of Pomona, and the Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. Fullerton lodge No. 339, F. and A. M., had charge of the services at the grave in Loma Vista.

Rhynalds was a member of Fullerton Commandery No. 55, Knights Templar. Curtis R. Reeve, commander of the Knights Templar, had members of the lodge act in the escort at the funeral.

New Officers Of Orange Missionary Group Installed

ORANGE, June 30.—Officers were installed at the meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society held at the Methodist church June 25. Mrs. W. B. Nuckolls was installed as president; Mrs. J. T. Wingett, vice president; Mrs. R. W. Hull, secretary; Mrs. F. B. Pruitt, treasurer.

Mrs. Emma Corson was the program chairman. The 50th anniversary of the W. H. M. S. was celebrated in the program. Four women were dressed in costumes of 50 years ago and impersonated the founders of the society. Miss Frances Conser was Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, first president of the W. H. M. S.; Mrs. P. E. Parson, the first vice president, Mrs. John Davis; Mrs. J. P. Boring, first secretary and framer of the constitution of the new society, Mrs. F. S. Hoyt; Mrs. E. L. Meyer was Mrs. Joseph Hartzell, the wife of a pastor who became a bishop of the Methodist church. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Emma Corson and her group.

P. E. MOVES TO ABANDON CARS TO FULLERTON

FULLERTON, June 30.—Asking for permission to reduce passenger service in the territory between Santa Fe Springs, Fullerton and Stern station from the present schedule to one car each day daily, the Pacific Electric railroad will appear before the state railroad commission examiners Wednesday at 10 a. m., according to an announcement made today.

At the present time eight cars leave Fullerton daily for Los Angeles and nine leave Los Angeles for Fullerton.

The application is being made, it is thought, because of the merger of the Pacific Electric and Motor Transit.

Representatives from the chamber of commerce are expected to object to the proposed reduction. A committee will present the local opinion before examiners at the hearing Wednesday.

AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

CHAPTER XLI

Dundee almost ran to the library, closed the door and snatched up the telephone receiver without taking time to seat himself at the big desk on which the instrument stood.

"Dundee speaking, Dr. Jennings. You've completed the analysis?"

"I have," came the voice of the city chemist over the wire. "And my report is negative."

"Negative?" Dundee echoed. "Yes," Dr. Jennings assured him. "I tested for wood alcohol first."

"Wood alcohol?" the detective exclaimed. "I never thought of that."

"—had some quick-acting, subtle poison in mind."

"Strawson vows you're a story-book detective," the chemist chuckled. "If that bottle of perfume had been divided half and half, say, with wood alcohol, the effect upon the person who drank it would have been very swift, but it would have been very sure. Death probably, but blindness at least. Since that would have been the logical way to murder a person known to be a perfume addict."

"Why logical, doctor?" Dundee asked curiously.

"For the simple reason that the purchaser of the perfume could contend that if the stuff contained wood alcohol, it must have been placed there by an unscrupulous manufacturer," the chemist answered impatiently. "Another good reason is that bootleg liquor, not doctored perfume, would have been blamed. Perfume-drinking is a so-called vice and the addict, once dead, could not very well exonerate the bootleg fraternity and point to an innocent-looking perfume flask as the source of the poison."

"I see," Dundee admitted slowly, for his brain was whirling with new possibilities. "But since wood alcohol evaporates so quickly, how can you be sure that none was present?"

"I can't be absolutely certain," the chemist admitted. "If the perfume had contained perfectly pure wood alcohol, no trace would have remained. But that commodity is hard for the layman to obtain and the purchase of it would be traceable. On the other hand, ordinary commercial wood alcohol, used for many purposes, is easily obtainable and has a strong odor due to the presence of small amounts of several impurities, including pyridine and furfural. Furfural is not very volatile and hence would remain behind after the evaporation of the alcohol proper. It can readily be detected even in small amounts by sensitive color tests. I found none of these impurities in the scented handkerchief you gave me for analysis."

"But if the commercial alcohol has a strong odor, would not a perfume addict detect it and be repelled?" Dundee asked.

"Not necessarily," the doctor answered. "The odor of the very concentrated perfume would be the more powerful and tend to conceal almost entirely the unpleasant odor of the impure alcohol."

"I see," Dundee assured him very thoughtfully. "An ingenious way to murder an enemy."

The chemist chuckled. "Unfortunately, few of us have enemies who are perfume addicts."

"That's true.... And you found no trace of any other kind of poison?"

"None whatever."

"Thank you very much, Dr. Jennings," Dundee said, and was a little surprised to hear the faint click of a receiver upon a hook. Odd that the genial chemist had not said good-bye. He was about to hang up himself when he became aware that Dr. Jennings had not been rudely abrupt after all.

"You're entirely welcome, Dundee. Good-bye."

A familiar, teasing voice cut into the detective's frowning concentration.

"Exit Mr. Seymour Crosby as a wicked old Borgia!"

"Gigi! Eavesdropping again! Now I know I'm going to spank you! I never saw such a girl!"

Gigi, on her knees in the big chair whose high back had hidden her from view until now, made a gamin "face" at him. "I guess this is my own father's library and I've got a right to read a book in my own father's library, haven't I?"

"Are you reading 'Penrod' by any chance?" Dundee asked sourly.

"No. A detective story that Dad said was a corker. But I guessed the murderer in the first chapter.... Funny thing, too. He put wood alcohol in some bootleg liquor."

"How many extensions has this telephone?" Dundee interrupted.

"Three," she answered promptly. "One in Wickie's pantry, one in Dad's bedroom and one in Abbie's. She has a private listening phone in her sitting room, too.... Why?"

"Merely that you are not the only eavesdropper in the house," Dundee said grimly. "Does this telephone ring on each extension?"

"No. Only here and in Wickie's pantry, but had it occurred to you that Dad or Mother might have taken off the receiver to call out?"

"Found that the line was busy and hung up? Or that Wickie's receiver in the pantry until you'd nearly finished your conversation?"

"I suppose Wickie did answer the phone in his pantry and send you here to take the call, didn't he?"

"Yes," Dundee answered shortly. He was not satisfied, but there was clearly nothing to be gained now by trying to trace the eavesdropper.

"Poor old Sherlock!" Gigi sympathized. "Was he all hot and bothered because his grand little hunch about poisoned perfume didn't pan out? Did he just yearn to clap nets on Mr. Crosby on the shoulder and say, 'Cr-crash! The jig is up! I arrest you for the murders of Phyllis Crosby and Doris Matthews?'"

"Shut up, Hellion!" Dundee growled at her. What a capacity the little devil had for hitting the nail upon the head! "I confess I'm disappointed," he told her abruptly. "Not that I wish Crosby any harm. But my only ray of light on this confounded case proves to be merely a reflection cast by my own daz-zling stupidity!"

"Very neat!" she applauded his simile. "But why not be content with dear old Johnson, the expert safecracker?"

The ringing of the telephone saved him the necessity of a lame reply.

"Western Union calling Mr. James F. Dundee," a voice droned in his ear.

"Dundee speaking. Have you a cablegram for me?"

"A prepaid radiogram from London, England, signed Sir Edward Moresby," the voice intoned with mechanical clearness. "I shall read the message: 'Kathryn Matthews unconscious following motor accident. Will question when possible!'"

"Shall I repeat the message?"

"No, thanks," Dundee said dully and hung up the receiver.

"Bad news?" Gigi asked quickly, with real concern.

Dundee grinned at her and they were friends again. "If I don't tell you, you'll find it out for yourself, you little ferret! Kathryn Matthews, Doris's sister in London, is unconscious following a motor accident. It will be just my luck to have her die before she can tell a few secrets regarding Phyllis Crosby's death, which Doris had confessed to her."

"Mr. Crosby—or someone!—is playing in luck, isn't he?" Gigi said "uberly."

"Playing in luck or playing safe?" Dundee retorted, but did not speak the words aloud, possibly because he had a strong hunch Gigi would have laughed at him.

"Come along!" Gigi cried, scrambling out of the big chair. "I'll take you on as a partner for tennis, if Dad and Dick will play doubles. They're already on the court. Fancy Dick's being out so early after his bender last night! Maybe he's avoiding you!"

"I shouldn't be a bit surprised!" Dundee retorted. "Will you wait here till I go up and change my shoes? I see you dressed with tennis in mind."

"Yes, Tish was going to play with me, but Abbie had a sudden yen for spiritual consolation this morning and nothing would do but that Tish and Clorinda and Mr. Crosby should go with her to church.... Oh,

BUILDING WORK PROGRESSING IN SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, June 30.—Permits for June totaled $16,250, according to Ed Bartlett, San Clemente building inspector. This reveals construction within a few hundred dollars of the May total and shows that building in San Clemente is going on at an even pace, Bartlett declared.

Four permits were issued, one being for Saint Clement's Episcopal church, which did not include cost of land donated by Ole Hanson or for furnishings. The other permits were for a five-room residence and several small improvement jobs.

At the present time construction is on the upgrade in San Clemente. Next Wednesday a contract for the widening of the state highway for a distance of a little more than two miles will be awarded by the city council. This job will call for an expenditure of around $150,000.

The erection of the Standard Oil company super service station is progressing rapidly. Several homes will soon be ready for owners.

Work is progressing on the San Clemente outfall sewer, pipe now being laid on the ocean bed for a distance of 4000 feet. It is expected that this job will be finished within the next few weeks.

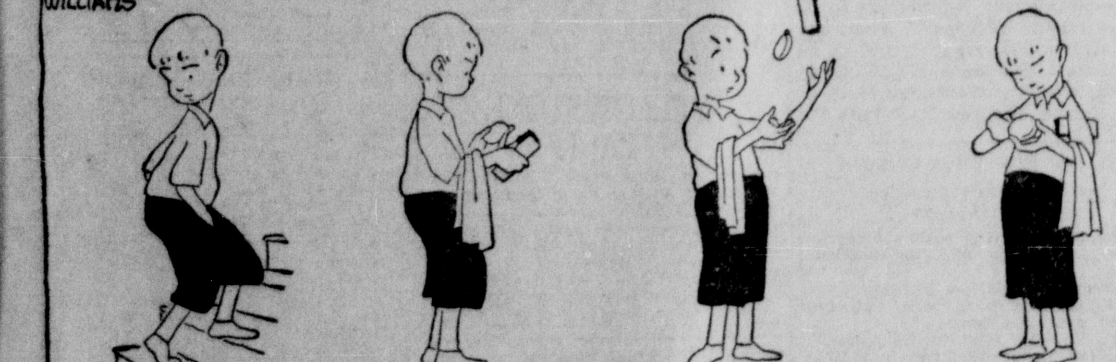

The laying of curbs and sidewalks in the golf club unit is progressing favorably and within a few weeks the streets in this part of town will be paved, according to Dan Mulherron, contractor.

Concerts will be presented by the South Gate municipal boys' band. The first will start at 1 p. m. at Newport, and the second will follow immediately afterwards at Balboa.

The construction of the two rock groins at the west side of the shore end of the west jetty is nearing completion, and both the three-day program at the end of this week and the Tournament of Lights, which comes Saturday evening, July 12, will be celebrations of this latest $200,000 city harbor improvement program, which so far has turned out better than most people expected.

"It is as important for the purpose of thought to keep language efficient as it is in surgery to keep tetanus bacilli out of one's bandages."—Ezra Pound.

SELFISH CONNIVING VS. HARMONY

Eugene Fenelon and Stuart H. Lucas of Newport Beach brought to light, through a letter which they wrote to the Newport Beach paper and which the Register published on Saturday, a condition which should be well understood by the voters not only of the Fifth Supervisorial district but of the whole county. We are glad to note that there is a rebellion over the condition right in Newport Beach, for it was the Newport people themselves who would be left to hold the sack if this deal were carried out. We are interested because it was one of the cases, which for refusing to be a party to, we were charged as we frequently are by those endeavoring to manipulate the politics, with refusing to "harmonize."

A few weeks ago we were approached and asked if the Register would support a proposed bond issue for the county on behalf of a harbor for Newport Beach. We were frankly told that a few men were to get together in the northern part of the county and make a proposition for a bond issue for a harbor at this time for a million and a half, in return for which the Newport Beach people or leaders who agreed to it were to support anything that this other group wanted to do in the Santa Ana Canyon in the way of a dam. We refused and stated to our interviewer the reasons.

In the first place we told him that we knew that you could no more get a bond issue over today in this county of a million and a half dollars for a harbor for Newport Beach than you could get a bond issue to build a railroad to the moon. And that one could not support such an enterprise under these conditions with intellectual integrity and preserve his self-respect. He frankly admitted, himself, that it was very improbable but that those behind it were anxious to show their good intentions in order to get the support of Newport Beach for their plan.

Secondly we told him that we were not in favor of attempting to get over bond issues except on the merits of the issues themselves. The attempt to take a million and a half of money or even the promise of a million and a half of money to buy the votes of a community was not treating the taxpayers fairly who should determine any issue upon its merits.

In the third place, we told him, we were unfavorable to it because we believed that when money was voted to build a harbor it should be matched with other money from the government, so that assurance could be had that the job would be complete and adequate and that under present conditions it would be impossible to accomplish this. The Board of Supervisors would have the expenditure of the money, indirectly possibly, through the selection of a harbor commission, but none the less it would not be in the hands of the government.

We further urged that we doubted seriously if the people would support any bond issue running into millions of money, which money was to be expended by the present Board of Supervisors. There were many just such deals as this with all the ramifications which cause the people to feel that the bond issue had better be withheld until a political condition obtained in the running of the affairs of the Board of Supervisors enabling the people to know what was being done, why it was being done, and how it was brought about. We further maintained that secrecy, closed doors and political manipulation did not inspire confidence of the people to vote millions of money in the dark. And that furthermore business conditions today would not justify the thought of such a program. We suggested that on the face of it, it looked entirely like a program rather to get the support of Newport Beach for some candidate that could be molded as the other members of the Board of Supervisors have been molded into the same size, shape, and conviction of the man or men who are dominating it. He was frank enough to smile and not deny this.

This emissary reported our position. The meeting was held however, according to contract, and the Register was criticized for its refusal to harmonize. We want to say to this group and to any others interested in Orange county that we take such criticism as a compliment. We will refuse to harmonize with any taxpayer's money and to be taken from them without consideration of the merits of the case but through political trading and manipulation.

We are positively for Newport Beach and for Newport Beach harbor. This is one of the reasons we are opposed to such a scheme, for we know that the scheme will defeat the harbor. Some of the very ones who have been trying to carry out this plan would never favor it in the world if they thought the bond issue for the harbor had a ghost of a show to succeed.

The idea was to seem to give the harbor a vote under the guise of giving it a "chance," but without actually doing so, so that later the harbor people could be induced to stand for some other bonds with a declaration, "You had your chance, now give us ours," which would preclude the harbor having another vote under any possibility of success for the next 25 years.

The politicians who are behind the deal are more interested in schemes for their personal advancement than the interests of their own community. The people of Orange county, we believe, are above the average of intelligence. They can be trusted to decide each matter on its merit and certainly if they cannot be trusted other people cannot be trusted to do it for them. The hope of accomplishing what Orange county needs is based upon the Orange county citizen knowing the conditions, the facts, the political situation and that their tax money will be used for the public benefit and not for private gain.

By the way, we would suggest that when you hear the Register is charged with refusal to harmonize the facts be searched to find out what and why, for if it is a good cause and worthy we would devote the whole institution to co-operation and harmony.

SOMETHING 'PHONY' ABOUT LINGLE

The shooting of a newspaper reporter in Chicago stirred that city as nothing else has done in a city which had become resigned to gang murders. The commissioner of police was immediately dismissed, and the whole police force was reorganized. Large rewards were offered for the detection of the murderer. The gangster had gone too far. Chicago was at last at the point of cleaning up.

Now it appears that Lingle, the reporter who was shot, was much too intimate with the gangsters, that he had accumulated a large fortune—a fortune altogether too much beyond the reach of a newspaper reporter. It appears also that he was financially involved with the deceased police commissioner. The whole thing looks "phony."

The question now is, will Chicago settle back, and say, "Well, it's only another member of the gang who violated the code," or will it clean out the parasitic brood which has been debauching public officials and murdering at will? No civilized community can long escape complete demoralization which permits any groups to war and kill outside the law. Sooner or later the innocent will be involved. It was this belief, that an innocent man had been killed when a gangster shot Lingle, that stirred Chicago to the depths. Now that Lingle might not have been as innocent as was first supposed, will the aroused sentiment against the thug and racketeer be permitted to die down? That is the question for Chicago to solve. Ordered society is doomed unless the racketeer is exterminated and his political accomplices are cashiered.

Allan Hoover, who has taken a summer job in a radiator factory, is reported to be "eager to begin work." In fact he's all steamed up over it.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY

The dispatches have just come over the wire that Doctor Harvey W. Wiley of Washington who for years was head of the pure foods investigation has passed away. Dr. Wiley was the sponsor of the pure food and drug act and few men in public life have ever had more to encounter in opposition than he has had. His was a career devoted entirely to the public interests. He had no patience with the sacrifice of public health for gain of individuals or corporations.

Unfortunately there seems to be no man to take his place. He quit his official position as head of the bureau of chemistry because he was so handicapped by political red tape that he felt he would be a greater power rendering service independently.

Those who would profit by the sale of impure foods and drugs have constantly fought the efforts that Dr. Wiley has put forth and finally, three years ago, they succeeded in anesthetizing the activities under the measure by taking away its function and merging it with the bureau of soil in the agriculture department. Dr. Wiley has denounced this situation in unmeasured terms. It is possible that his death will galvanize other people into activity to take up his work, for certainly it is needed.

Uncle Eph thinks the Jersey primary is just another one of those newfangled summer garments.

THE WAR IS OVER

The last French soldier has left the Rhineland. Germany is free again from the invader. It has been a long time. It is difficult to imagine the humiliation and the secret hate that have possessed the German heart during the last 12 bitter years. Every day on the street these Germans had to pass the French soldiers, and any discourtesy toward them was severely punished.

All is probably not unalloyed rejoicing in the former occupied area, however, for the French troops spent a bit of money there and it will be missed by the shop-keepers and cafe men.

It has been fortunate that France has a Briand in power rather than a Clemenceau or a Poincare. Fortunate that Germany has had a Stressemann, and now has a Julius Curtius. There is still hope for a lasting reconciliation, in spite of bitter memories, when nations are blessed with leaders like these.

The Food Industry

One-fourth of all the money spent by the American people is for food products, according to a study made by the General Foods corporation.

The annual income of the United States is around 80 billion dollars, and of this 21 billion is used to supply the dining table, in addition to three billion more for products "consumed on premises" and not cleared through any market.

The significance of this is shown by the fact that the value of all textiles in this country is about 12 billion yearly; automobiles, including trucks, tires and accessories, five to six billion; building construction, seven to eight billion; and iron and steel about six billion.

The food industry is thus the largest, as well as the oldest, of all businesses.

The trend in the food industry seems to be away from small producing and distributing units toward mass production and distribution, in line with automobiles, electricity, clothes, banking, etc. One famous company provides the American table with more than 40 favorite food products.

A Man Is Often Judged by the Enemies He Makes

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE WRONG RATING

In a late magazine I have read
That if always from thought I abstain
I can pay for my meals and my bread,
Using only a fourth of my brain.
But if manual labor I hate,
Such as done by large, muscular porters,
And I hope to be ranked with the great
I must shake up the other three-quarters.

But in rough and laborious work
I can find a decided delight;
Lawn tennis I never would shirk
Though I find it distressing to write.
I like to clout pills from the rough,
And I'm sure I would like to play skittles
But this will not bring me enough
To pay for my clothes and my victuals.

I think that the system is wrong;
Some people from thinking recoil
And prefer to grow healthy and strong
By a super-abundance of toil.
If I don't want to use my whole mind
Why shouldn't I get for my labors
As much for a hard day's grind
As is paid to my higher-browed neighbors?

If for plowing a hoe or a spade,
Which for many people is play,
A fellow was sure to be paid
A few hundred dollars a day.
Hard jobs people rarely would shirk;
More shovels and picks would be clinking,
And many folks turn to hard work
Who today only think they are thinking.

Cash In The Box Office

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Fifty-five hours' work for $13.50. Could you live on that?" Forty-six hundred mill-workers in Virginia carried that banner. Also this one:

"We want an opportunity to demonstrate to our employers that we bear them no ill will."

Saint Gandhi himself could not have done better in plaintiveness and moderation. There was no disorder, says a newspaper report, either in the line of march or at the mass meeting which followed.

While Labor in Virginia was thus showing intelligent restraint in criticizing Capital, Capital in New York was showing intelligent unrestraint in criticizing itself. Sam Lewisohn, vice-president of the Miami Copper Company, rolled up his sleeves at the Metal Trades' Convention, and performed a one-sentence operation on industry, thereby deftly removing its alibi.

"Unemployment in industry," stated Surgeon Sam, "is almost entirely the result of poor management."

Nobody present offered any other diagnosis. So we find Labor speaking in carefully modulated tones to Capital, and Capital speaking apologetically to Labor. That is encouraging. We never did think Prosperity had signed off. Perhaps she will soon be back in the National Opera House, playing a return engagement.

But not if too many of us sit around waiting for free passes. Prosperity won't budge out of her dressing room until the list of guarantors is long enough and dependable enough to make it worth her while.

Government and Industry are big names. But even with these at the head of the list, Prosperity is coy. She refuses to play to a half-filled house or to a papered house. The only thing that will coax her out of retirement is cash.

Not cash in the strong-box. Cash in the box-office.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE PLIGHT OF THE NURSE

The Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools has just completed a two-story study of the problems of production, education, distribution, and pay in the nursing profession. The high lights of the report are these:

First, the supply of active graduate nurses in the United States is increasing far more rapidly than the general population.

Second, there is serious unemployment among nurses, and this unemployment grows worse each year.

Third, along with this unemployment there is a shortage of nurses in some fields, due to the following causes:

(1) The geographical distribution of nurses is uneven. Nurses tend to live in cities, despite the fact that the need for nurses in the country is great. They are found in most liberal numbers near good hospitals despite the fact that nurses are greatly needed where hospital facilities are weakest.

(2) Nursing education has not yet provided an adequate supply of specialized nurses, such as nurses specifically prepared for mental, contagious, heart, obstetrical, and other cases;

(3) Nursing education has not yet provided an adequate supply of nurses with systematic preparation for executive and teaching positions in institutional and public health nursing.

Fourth, the earnings of nurses are low. Their earnings are lower in private duty than in either public health or institutional nursing, and in private duty there is virtually no opportunity for professional advancement or increased earnings.

Fifth, physicians want intelligent nurses. They prefer graduate nurses to practical nurses. The better the training of the nurses the better pleased are the physicians.

Sixth, educational standards in nursing are rising, but not as rapidly as educational standards in the community in general. The educational standards of nursing schools must be set high enough to enable nursing to compete with other professions now open to women.

Tomorrow, out of my own experience as an executive of a university of which a medical school and a hospital are integral parts, I shall make certain comments on nursing education.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

UNOCCUPIED CHILDREN

Whenever a troubled mother tells me that her child is destructive, mischievous, trouble—some beyond words, I ask her what the child has to play with. You see a child is born with his tools of his education within him. Nothing is given him but the power of search. He must gather every bit of information for himself through his senses. That means he must poke his intellectual nose into everything going on about him, thrust an inquiring finger into everybody's pie. He MUST. To that end he was born.

It is our business, our duty, to help the child gather the right kind of news about the world and its people. But we are very busy about our own affairs and we hate to be interrupted. It takes a lot of time and thought to plan for a child's day, that it may be happy and profitable. Somebody must do that thinking and planning and give the undertaking a good stout push to launch it well under way. That is the mother's duty first and the teacher's after that.

Mothers have the harder part. School offers a schedule of work and allows no argument about it, but home, the larger, better school, offers a variety of occupation, a mixture of motives and very personal ideals. Home needs an equipment for the education of its children just as school needs one. Too often the home children are expected to get along without help of any kind. Thrown upon their own resources, trouble starts. The furniture, walls, floors, fixtures, machines, all are leveled upon for what they may contain of news to rouse the stranger within the gates. It is far cheaper and more educational to supply the right sort of equipment for the children.

All children, boys and girls, need toys that call for activity. As soon as children can get about on their own feet they are ready for little lawns, barrows, rakes, wagons, scooters, hammers, blocks, swings, books, and a blackboard with chalk and eraser.

A blackboard is one of the most important toys a child can own. A slate screwed to the wall at the right height for a toddler is just the thing. Be sure the light falls upon it at the right angle. Then, if you are a discerning parent, get a sheet of blackboard cloth and tack it down smoothly in some delightful corner where a small person may lie on his front and sketch the castles of his dreams.

You can do much with the right kind of a blackboard. Think of the pictures you can draw. You can copy favorites out your books—there must always be books, with lots of good pictures in them. And you can draw maps and plans. There is nothing quite so comforting as a sight of the plan of the mind's adventure sketched in white chalk on a blackboard.

When the child is troublesome make an inventory of his belongings and fill the gaps intelligently. (Copyright, 1930, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

YOSEMITE VALLEY GRANT

On June 30, 1864, the Yosemite valley was passed to California by an act of congress under the condition that it be kept open as a national park. In 1890 the Yosemite National park, including the valley, was established by an act of congress, and 15 years later the original reservation was ceded back to the government by the state.

The park, embracing an area of 1125 square miles, contains some of the most magnificent scenery in America. The celebrated big Sequoia trees, the largest of which is 204 feet in height and 29 1/2 feet in diameter, are in this region.

Besides the trees, the park contains, as John Muir, explorer, beautifully writes: "The headwaters of the Tuolumne and Merced rivers, two of the most beautiful streams in the world; innumerable lakes and waterfalls and smooth, silky lawns; the noblest forests, the loftiest granite domes, the deepest ice-sculptured canyons, the brightest crystalline pavements, and snowy mountains . . . arrayed in open ranks, and spiny pinnacles partially separated by tremendous canyons and amphitheaters; gardens on
